Further Probe Is Urged As Dulles Calls Bohlen 'Good Security Risk'

Vishinsky Could Prove Red Peace Talk Is On Level

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—New Soviet sweet talk has given many U. N. delegates watchful hope that it may lead to real peace, but they are waiting for Russia's Andrei Vishinsky to prove it, especially on Korea.

The former Soviet foreign minister, shuffled out of the post in the Malenkov government switches, is due back here Thursday to become the permanent Soviet delegate. This is just a week before the current session of the U. N. Assembly is scheduled to close.

Concentrated Importance

If Vishinsky and company come up with any real peace talk, delegates are ready to take a Good Friday-Easter recess and come back to discuss any hopeful development.

Toward the end of this week, the Russians will have one of the most important diplomatic delegations anywhere in the world concentrated in this spot. If Vishinsky has anything in his diplomatic grab bag, it should be revealed here in the next 10 days.

Vishinsky is the first Soviet diplomat of his rank to come out from behind the Kremlin walls since the Malenkov-Beria-Molotov group took over after Stalin's death and since the Russian sweet talk began.

Zarubin In Delegation

Beside Vishinsky in the delegation are Georgi Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to the U. S., and Andrei Gromyko, Soviet ambassador to London. Gromyko came here to head the delegation while Vishinsky was conferring in Moscow with the new Soviet leadership.

L. N. Palar, Indonesian delegate, has confirmed that he wants to try to steam up in the political Committee his idea for an Eisenhower-Malenkov meeting. The Political Committee argues tomorrow morning whether it should side-track Czechoslovak charges of U. S. spying behind the Iron Curtain now, and there may be some debate on the meeting idea.

Waynesboro, Va., Has Worst Fire

WAYNESBORO, Va., March 22 (AP)—Three buildings were destroyed and six others damaged in a fire that caused more than a half-million dollars damage in the Waynesboro business district early today.

It was the worst fire in this Shenandoah Valley city's history. The blaze broke out shortly before midnight in a building used to store flour. The flames, fanned by a brisk east wind, quickly spread to adjoining structures and for a while threatened to engulf the heart of the business area.

Some 200 firemen from Waynesboro and nine other towns and communities fought the flames for more than three hours before finally gaining the upper hand of the outbreak.

TWUA Urges Duty Hike

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—The CIO Textile Workers Union of America today urged an increase in the duty on imported woolen and worsted fabrics.

Md. Demos Boast They Are Ones Providing Tax Cuts

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 21 (AP)—Democrats looking forward to the 1954 elections appear more than satisfied with the turn the question of spending and taxes is taking at this session of the General Assembly.

They already are boasting openly that the Democratic legislators are the ones who are providing tax cuts under a Republican governor who ran on an economy platform.

Their contention was augmented somewhat yesterday with the announcement by Chairman Logan (D-Caroline) that the House Ways and Means Committee had approved cuts of two million dollars in McKeldin's 1953-54 million dollar budget for 1953-54.

Truman Praises Bohlen As 'Fine, Capable Person'

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22 (AP)—Former President Truman today praised Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen, whose nomination as ambassador to Russia has stirred the opposition of a Senate group headed by Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.).

"Bohlen is a very capable person," Truman said.

"He's a fine man. I know him very well."

The reference to Bohlen was the former president's sole comment on political matters in his news conference aboard the liner President Cleveland.

The ex-president, Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, sailed at noon for Hawaii, on a month's vacation.

Former Teacher Plotting Revolt In Red Albania

PARIS, March 22 (AP)—From a crude peasant home in Yugoslavia, a former mathematics teacher who boasts the support of 50,000 guerrillas is reported to be plotting revolution against the Moscow-directed Communist government of Albania.

Apostol Taneff, an Albanian Communist by spirit and training, says his followers inside the tiny, mountain country now control one-third of it and he is ready to strike to gain complete control.

Reportedly Has Tito Support

News of Taneff's plans was sent to the Paris newspaper Paris Presse by its correspondent Jean-Francois Devay. He said he had met the partisan leader at his "government-in-exile" headquarters in Pristina, Yugoslavia. Devay reported that Taneff's organization in Yugoslavia operates with the full knowledge, if not open support, of Yugoslavia's dictator-president, Marshal Tito, who broke with Moscow in 1948.

"We lack modern weapons," Devay quoted Taneff as saying. "Of course, we have rifles, lots of rifles and machine guns. But they are generally old equipment that Italian troops hid before surrendering in the last war and which we found. We also have taken some arms from the bodies of Albanian troops."

"All that doesn't make much, but don't be worried. That won't stop us from winning. Even when our peasants only have their hatchets, they will march on Tirana (the capital) when the day comes. Arms always come to hand when you have the will to fight."

Taneff, about 40, is a man of medium size, with a bronzed face. He formerly was a mathematics teacher in a high school in a small Albanian town.

There is no way to confirm Taneff's statements through an on-the-spot check. Albania's Red rulers have effectively sealed off all contact with the outside, except with Russia and the Soviet satellites. France is the only Western country with a diplomatic mission in Albania—and the French diplomats can move only a few blocks from their legation.

Huks, Troops Clash; 34 Die

MANILA, March 23 (Monday) (INS)—A Philippine Defense Department spokesman reported today that at least 34 persons were killed Saturday in a bloody clash between government troops and armed Hukbalahap rebels.

for his committee for forcing the State's fiscal authorities to alter their estimates on current revenues to permit the 15 per cent income tax cut and a reduction of about three cents on the state property tax.

And the Democrats in the Senate have authored an automatic tax reduction plan that would turn back most of the state's surpluses to the taxpayers in the form of lower levies.

McKeldin has argued throughout that his budgetary program was the best estimate of the fiscal experts on what it would require for the state to continue its present services and for needed improvements.

Committee Makes State Secretary's Testimony Public

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles stood behind Charles (Chip) Bohlen as "a good security and loyalty risk" today but Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) demanded further inquiry into Bohlen's qualifications to be U. S. ambassador to Moscow.

McClellan urged that the State Department let its security officer, W. R. Scott McLeod, "speak for himself" on the issue of whether he had refused to clear Bohlen.

Dulles' official views became known when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee released testimony taken in a closed door session last Wednesday. Dulles endorsed Bohlen's loyalty at that session and members voted 15 to 0 to approve his nomination.

Bohlen Testimony Released

The committee also released testimony by Bohlen, in which the veteran foreign service career man promised that as ambassador he would carry out the orders of President Eisenhower and Dulles "without a question."

He said that if he ever disagrees with policies of the new administration he will resign and keep his mouth shut.

Bohlen defended the wartime Yalta agreements, which have been under fire by Republicans, and said he had nothing to do with shaping the policy which some GOP members said led to Communist conquest of China.

McClellan said he is not going to be satisfied to vote on Bohlen, whose appointment goes before the Senate tomorrow for expected eventual approval, until he hears from McLeod himself. However, the Arkansas senator was among a small minority of critics of the nomination.

Disagreement Denied

Dulles, who has denied there is any disagreement between himself and McLeod, said in his testimony that the security officer raised a "warning signal" after reviewing results of an FBI investigation of Bohlen. He said McLeod "did not wish to take the responsibility" of clearing him.

"I do not think that security officers, whose primary job is to raise doubts and find out suspicious circumstances, are the persons who should have final responsibility in matters of this kind," Dulles declared.

He said McLeod forwarded the FBI report to him with this statement: "This is not a case which I can automatically pass because whenever there is derogatory information of this sort I think it is my duty to bring it to your personal attention."

Dulles stripped all reference to the derogatory information out of the published testimony but Sen. George (D-Ga) said it dealt with "rumors and hearsay" about Bohlen's alleged association with "disolute persons."

Another Atom Blast Tomorrow Indicated

LAS VEGAS, Nev., March 22 (AP)—Some of the nation's top brass in the atomic field began arriving at Las Vegas today amid indications that they are coming here for personal observation of an atomic test blast Tuesday.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced that 53 scientists and technical experts are gathering here for a four-day meeting, starting tomorrow.

Indications that there may be another A-blast Tuesday were contained in action by the AEC in calling a press conference here tomorrow. Previously the pattern has been that a test explosion is set off the day after a press conference, unless weather conditions are not favorable.

Soviets Push New 'Peace Offensive'

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—Peace and collaboration with the West were the main themes over Moscow radio tonight as the Soviet Union pushed its new "peace offensive" to the hilt.

"We want to live in peace with the peoples of the U. S., Great Britain, France, with everyone, irrespective of their social and government regime," said one overseas broadcast in Greek. "We want to trade with all countries to the common good."

"We are faithful to the ideals of Stalin and we have but one object—To avert war."

CAPTURED BY REDS — Donald Dixon (above), New York City, a staff writer for the International News Service, was aboard a sailing boat captured by a Chinese Communist armed vessel near Hong Kong, according to the Royal Navy.

Russ Publishing Concerns Target Of Pravda's Fire

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—Soviet publishing houses were told in far from poetic terms by Pravda today to get their presses rolling and catch up with the new Communist outlook on life.

Moscow radio broadcast today's Pravda editorial, which said publishers must raise appreciably the level of their theoretical and ideological work and "liquidate shortcomings and mistakes if they are to cope with their tasks of expounding the theories of Marxism-Leninism and illuminating party and government decisions."

Virulent Attacks Absent

Almost every instruction given the publishing houses dealt with internal matters and the publishers were told to inspire the Soviet people to "heroic labor for building communism in our country."

Absent were the virulent attacks of recent years on "warmongers" in the outside world; the only reference to what should be printed about capitalist lands came in this paragraph: "The publishing houses have so far failed to insure a sufficient supply of popularly written political literature which elucidates the most important trends in the policy of our party and the Soviet state, the building of socialism in the people's democracies (satellites), besides reporting on the life and struggle of the working people in the capitalist countries."

Stress On Home Affairs

It would seem that reading matter for Soviet citizens now is to get a sharp rewrite job with the stress on home affairs. This is in keeping with recent "sweetness and light" references to Western lands who previously received only heaps of abuse from the Russians.

Publishing houses are falling badly behind in expounding through popular political literature the most important social-political questions, said Pravda, which ordered today's lagging publishers to "start printing political books explaining the decision of the 19th party congress."

It was at the 19th party congress while Stalin was still alive that Georgi Malenkov, now Prime Minister, started stressing home affairs and paying the way for his more recent conciliatory attitude toward the West.

Matter Of Fact U. S. Failed To Grasp Meaning Of Atom Bomb In Soviet Hands

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
WASHINGTON, March 22 — This is the conclusion of a series of reports on the urgent problem of American air defense. The complex facts already set forth may be simply summarized. We have no air defense today. In two years' time, we shall be nakedly exposed to air-atomic destruction by the Kremlin. President Eisenhower is therefore considering an air and civil defense program that may cost from $16 to $27 billion over-all.

The longer you reflect upon these facts, the more you must become convinced that one of the great American failures of these difficult postwar years, has been the failure to grasp the meaning of the atomic bomb in Soviet hands.

From start to finish, wishfulness and self-deception have reigned unchallenged. The Soviets were never expected to produce an atom bomb as soon as September, 1949. When they touched off their atomic explosion, the whole government, from President Truman down, soothingly promised that the Soviet bomb really did not make much difference. To this very day, the Soviet bomb has not been taken into account in American military planning or strategy or policy-making.

Each of these services has sought to use the bomb to strengthen its own traditional pattern. None has seriously considered how the bomb might break up the pattern.

The Navy is spending untold sums on giant carriers to serve as bomb-launching platforms. But the Navy has no known answer to the fearful effect of water-exploded atomic bombs on carrier task forces. In Exercise Mainbrace, only a few score hostile bomber sorties were permitted. Only the smallest percentage of R.A.F. bombers got through. Those who got through correctly dropped only

Break Attempt Fatal To Three Tex. Prisoners

Guard Empties Two Pistols Into Group Of Seven Convicts

FT. WORTH, Tex., March 22 (AP)—Three prisoners died here today in a sensational but brief struggle to break out of the Tarrant County jail.

"We're going for blood and death," announced the self-chosen leader of seven desperate convicts as they fled their cells.

Minutes later the jailbreak general and two others were fatally shot and a fourth seriously wounded by a 73-year-old guard who emptied two pistols into the small mob.

The other three tried to scoot back to their cells but were beaten into submission and held cowering by a Negro trusty.

The attempted break was an unsuccessful re-enactment of a daring escape Feb. 18 from the same jail of 10 prisoners, including Floyd Hill, Alcatraz parole breaker, who is still at large.

One Killed Instantly

Three of those in today's attempt had been recaptured after the February break.

Killed instantly today by chief turnkey W. P. Foster were Bobby Dean Baker, 18, indicted for armed robbery.

Lloyd D. Leshler, 17, held on car theft charges and Baker's confederate in the earlier break, died minutes later.

William Howard Ford, 20, jailed for car theft, also was fatally wounded.

Shot in the mouth and right arm was C. L. Eubanks, 18, Texas State Prison inmate brought here to face burglary charges.

Foster received a flesh wound in the left thigh when a gun discharged as Eubanks and another officer fought for the weapon.

The break began about 9 a.m. when jail Guard Jess Miles went to the fifth floor of the jail for Ford and Eubanks who said they wanted a haircut before regular Sunday morning church services.

As Miles opened the cell door, the pair overpowered him, crashed his head into the bars and took his keys. They quickly freed the other five prisoners.

Crowd Into Elevator

The seven crowded into a small elevator and ordered a Negro trustee to take them to the basement. The trusty, Horace Mosby, 35, who is 4 feet 4 and weighs 75 pounds, said they were armed with a length of chain, two knives, a club fashioned from metal slats, and a sharp-edged spoon. There were no guns.

Between the second and third floors, Baker ordered Mosby to stop the elevator.

"We're going for blood and death," said Baker. "You keep me covered and we'll all get out."

In the basement they rushed the jailer's office, where Foster and two deputies were talking. Foster jerked his .38 pistol out and emptied it. Then he grabbed another officer's .44 and fired it "several times."

Baker spun to the floor, dead. Ford fell at the base of the last door blocking the inmates' freedom. Leshler tried to run into another office but fell with a bullet in the back of his head.

The couple was wed at the international border line by Judge O. Z. Ide (right) after legal difficulties prevented the tie in either country.

Twisters Cause Damage In Dixie, Only One Death

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 22 (AP)—Tornadoes mauled areas of Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee today, inflicting widespread property loss but tonight only one death and surprisingly few injuries had been charged to the twisters and accompanying high winds.

Sgt. Harold Gomez of Camp Polk, La., was killed when wind felled a tree across his automobile near Leesville, La.

Heaviest property damage appeared to be at Columbia, La., a village in northern Louisiana, where Sheriff G. E. Erskine estimated at least $100,000 in losses when a twister unroofed more than half the business buildings. But here, as at most other places raked by the storms, there were no reports of deaths or serious injuries.

221 Killed Year Ago

In advance of the storms, the Weather Bureau had warned tornado-breeding conditions prevailed across much of the mid-South where a year ago this weekend these dreaded springtime killers wiped out 221 lives and did damage estimated up to 30 million dollars. The toll was heaviest in the area around Judsonia, Ark., where 110 perished.

As darkness fell, the Weather Bureau at Memphis lifted its tornado alert for southeast Missouri, east Arkansas, extreme west Tennessee and northwest Mississippi but the warnings remained in effect for other parts of west Tennessee and northeast Mississippi.

Beebe, Ark., was first to report destructive winds when two persons were injured and considerable property damage done shortly before noon. There was some doubt as to whether this was a true tornado or just high winds. Beebe is 50 miles north of Little Rock and near Judsonia.

Farm Buildings Wrecked

Shortly before 3 p.m., EST, a small twister dipped down between the Jonesboro, Arkansas, airport and the hamlet of Mount Palace. No deaths or injuries were reported but some farm buildings were blown down.

At about the same time, a small tornado struck Winnfield, Louisiana, destroying one house.

Fierce gusts of wind buffeted Newbern and four other small communities in the Dyersburg, Tenn., region but again loss appeared to be confined to relatively minor property damage.

UAW Backs Proposed Merger Of AFL, CIO

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 22 (INS) — The CIO United Auto Workers today adopted a resolution approving proposed merger of the AFL and CIO.

CIO President Walter Reuther announced at the same time that the CIO-AFL Labor Unity Committee will meet in Washington April 7 to discuss merger.

Reuther told the nearly 3,800 delegates at the 14th convention of the UAW that the CIO representatives will work hard to bring about a united labor movement but "will not compromise our principles as a matter of political expediency."

Modern Cowboy Uses Motorcycle

WHITEFORD, Md., March 22 (AP)—Maryland's most modern cowboy takes to the field these spring days on a one-cylinder motorcycle.

Glen Salmons says its the fastest and easiest way to round up a herd of nearly 50 dairy cows. Salmons lives in this Harford County town just south of the Mason-Dixon line, but manages his grandfather's 22-acre dairy farm six miles away.

Marines Smash Chinese Assault

SEOUL, Monday, March 23 (AP)—U. S. 2nd Division and South Korean raiders blasted Red caves and tunnels at two points on the thawing Western Korean front Sunday while U. S. Marines fought off a 500-man Chinese attack.

The U. S. Eighth Army said Allied troops killed more than 200 Chinese in three western hill fights alone. Dozens of other Reds died in smaller clashes along the muddy 155-mile battle front.

U. S. Thunderjet fighter-bombers attacked a railroad switching yard near Namsi, about 45 miles below the border of Manchuria. The Fifth Air Force said 15 tank and boxcars were destroyed or damaged and two violent secondary explosions left the marshalling yard in flames.

Sabres swept Mig Alley, daring Communist fighters to come out like they had on Saturday when 13 Red jets were destroyed or damaged. Perhaps because of poor weather, the Red planes stayed at their nearby Manchurian bases.

The Air Force revealed belatedly that 16 MIGs penetrated to Sariwon, within 60 miles of the western battle line, Saturday before they were turned back by Sabres. It was the deepest such penetration in recent months.

Couldn't Meet Red Offensive, Senators Told

Former Eighth Army Boss Was Forced To Hoard Ammunition

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet has given senators a shocking secret estimate that the U. S. Eighth Army does not have enough ammunition to meet a Communist offensive in Korea.

He said: "Should the enemy start something which is unpredictable then do we have enough to meet this offensive, and I say 'No.'"

His testimony, together with that of top Pentagon chiefs, caused Senators Flanders (R-Vt) and Case (R-SD) to question whether the ammunition shortage hadn't been in fact part of a deliberate government policy to hold the army in check.

Van Fleet gave his testimony to the Senate Armed Services Committee March 5, 6 and 10. Most of it was kept secret until today when the group decided the public should have the full story as they had heard it, except for portions bearing on national security.

Situation Better Now

The former Eighth Army commander said he understood the situation is better now than it was when he left Korea last month. But he made it clear he is in direct disagreement with his Pentagon superiors on how much ammunition the Army should shoot and what the Army's mission in Korea should be. He favors a more aggressive policy.

Sensors used such words in the record as "tragic," "shocking" and "unbelievable" as Van Fleet told them:

1. The troops in Korea "have to be in trouble in order to shoot" heavy weapons and then they have only enough supplies for "merely a protective action to save themselves." He was referring to ammunition for 81-millimeter mortars and 105 and 155-millimeter howitzers.

Forced To Hoard Supplies

2. He had been forced to issue "no shoot" orders to his gunners in order to hoard dwindling supplies, and at one time in May, 1951, there wasn't a shell left in his supply dumps — only shells at the gun pits.

3. Gen. Mark W. Clark, supreme commander of the Far Eastern forces, told him last November the United Nations forces had to cut down their rate of fire against the enemy to conserve ammunition.

4. The Chinese and North Korean Reds now have twice as much artillery on the firing line as the U. N. forces — and the enemy has "adequate" ammunition supplies.

5. Victory can be achieved in Korea if the army is "given the means" which would mean more ammunition and more manpower.

6. In June, 1951, the Allied Army had the Reds retreating "in a panic" and "I was crying" "I was turned loose. He said he thought at that time he could have pursued the enemy, captured 200,000 to 300,000 prisoners and "all his heavy equipment." But he added he was

MAIZURI, Japan, Monday, March 23 (AP)—A shipload of 2,009 Japanese came home today from years spent in China under the Nationalists and the Reds.

Some wept with emotion at the sight of their homeland. Others boldly quoted Communist propaganda themes.

Disagreement Denied

Dulles, who has denied there is any disagreement between himself and McLeod, said in his testimony that the security officer raised a "warning signal" after reviewing results of an FBI investigation of Bohlen. He said McLeod "did not wish to take the responsibility" of clearing him.

"I do not think that security officers, whose primary job is to raise doubts and find out suspicious circumstances, are the persons who should have final responsibility in matters of this kind," Dulles declared.

He said McLeod forwarded the FBI report to him with this statement: "This is not a case which I can automatically pass because whenever there is derogatory information of this sort I think it is my duty to bring it to your personal attention."

Dulles stripped all reference to the derogatory information out of the published testimony but Sen. George (D-Ga.) said it dealt with "rumors and hearsay" about Bohlen's alleged association with "disolute persons."

Another Atom Blast Tomorrow Indicated

LAS VEGAS, Nev., March 22 (AP)—Some of the nation's top brass in the atomic field began arriving at Las Vegas today amid indications that they are coming here for personal observation of an atomic test blast Tuesday.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced that 53 scientists and technical experts are gathering here for a four-day meeting, starting tomorrow.

Indications that there may be another A-blast Tuesday were contained in action by the AEC in calling a press conference here tomorrow. Previously the pattern has been that a test explosion is set off the day after a press conference, unless weather conditions are not favorable.

Soviets Push New 'Peace Offensive'

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—Peace and collaboration with the West were the main themes over Moscow radio tonight as the Soviet Union pushed its new "peace offensive" to the limit.

"We want to live in peace with the peoples of the U. S., Great Britain, France, with everyone, irrespective of their social and government regime," said one overseas broadcast in Greek. "We want to trade with all countries to the common good."

"We are faithful to the ideals of Stalin and we have but one object—To avert war."

CAPTURED BY REDS — Donald Dixon (above), New York City, a staff writer for the International News Service, was aboard a sailing boat captured by a Chinese Communist armed vessel near Hong Kong, according to the Royal Navy.

Russ Publishing Concerns Target Of Pravda's Fire

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—Soviet publishing houses were told in far from poetic terms by Pravda today to get their presses rolling and catch up with the new Communist outlook on life.

Moscow radio broadcast today's Pravda editorial, which said publishers must raise appreciably the level of their theoretical and ideological work and "liquidate shortcomings and mistakes if they are to cope with their tasks of expounding the theories of Marxism-Leninism and illuminating party and government decisions."

Virulent Attacks Absent

Almost every instruction given the publishing houses dealt with internal matters and the publishers were told to inspire the Soviet people to "heroic labor for building communism in our country."

Absent were the virulent attacks of recent years on "warmongers" in the outside world; the only reference to what should be printed about capitalist lands came in this paragraph: "The publishing houses have so far failed to insure a sufficient supply of popularly written political literature which elucidates the most important trends in the policy of our party and the Soviet state, the building of socialism in the people's democracies (satellites), besides reporting on the life and struggle of the working people in the capitalist countries."

Stress on Home Affairs

It would seem that reading matter for Soviet citizens now is to get a sharp rewrite job with the stress on home affairs. This is in keeping with recent "sweetness and light" references to Western lands who previously received only heaps of abuse from the Russians.

Publishing houses are falling badly behind in expounding through popular political literature the most important social-political questions, said Pravda, which ordered two lagging publishers to "start printing political books explaining the decision of the 19th party congress."

It was at the 19th party congress while Stalin was still alive that Georgi Malenkov, now Prime Minister, started stressing home affairs and paving the way for his more recent conciliatory attitude toward the West.

Matter Of Fact U. S. Failed To Grasp Meaning Of Atom Bomb In Soviet Hands

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
WASHINGTON, March 22 — This is the conclusion of a series of reports on the urgent problem of American air defense. The complex facts already set forth may be simply summarized. We have no air defense today. In two years' time, we shall be nakedly exposed to air-atomic destruction by the Kremlin. President Eisenhower is therefore considering an air and civil defense program that may cost from $16 to $27 billion over-all.

The longer you reflect upon these facts, the more you must become convinced that one of the great American failures of these difficult postwar years, has been the failure to grasp the meaning of the atomic bomb in Soviet hands.

From start to finish, wishfulness and self-deception have reigned unchallenged. The Soviets were never expected to produce an atom bomb as soon as September, 1949. When they touched off their atomic explosion, the whole government, from President Truman down, soothingly promised that the Soviet bomb really did not make much difference. To this very day, the Soviet bomb has not been taken into account in American military planning or strategy or policy-making.

Each of these services has sought to use the bomb to strengthen its own traditional pattern. None has seriously considered how the bomb might break up the pattern.

The Navy is spending untold sums on giant carriers to serve as bomb-launching platforms. But the Navy has no known answer to the fearful effect of water-exploded atomic bombs on carrier task forces. In Exercise Mainbrace, only a few score hostile bomber sorties were permitted. Only the smallest percentage of R.A.F. bombers got through. Those who got through correctly dropped only

Break Attempt Fatal To Three Tex. Prisoners

Guard Empties Two Pistols Into Group Of Seven Convicts

FT. WORTH, Tex., March 22 (AP)—Three prisoners died here today in a sensational but brief struggle to break out of the Tarrant County jail.

"We're going for blood and death," announced the self-chosen leader of seven desperate convicts as they fled their cells.

Minutes later the jailbreak general and two others were fatally shot and a fourth seriously wounded by a 73-year-old guard who emptied two pistols into the small mob.

The other three tried to scot back to their cells but were beaten into submission and held cowering by a Negro trusty.

The attempted break was an unsuccessful re-enactment of a daring escape Feb. 18 from the same jail of 10 prisoners, including Floyd Hill, Alcatraz parole breaker, who is still at large.

One Killed Instantly
Three of those in today's attempt had been recaptured after the February break.

Killed instantly today by chief turnkey W. P. Foster was Bobby Dean Baker, 18, indicted for armed robbery.

Lloyd D. Leshner, 17, held on car theft charges and Baker's confederate in the earlier break, died minutes later.

William Howard Ford, 20, jailed for car theft, also was fatally wounded.

Shot in the mouth and right arm was C. L. Eubanks, 18, Texas State Prison inmate brought here to face burglary charges.

Foster received a flesh wound in the left thigh when a gun discharged as Eubanks and another officer fought for the weapon.

The break began about 9 a. m. when jail Guard Jess Miles went to the fifth floor of the jail for Ford and Eubanks who said they wanted a haircut before regular Sunday morning church services.

As Miles opened the cell door, the pair overpowered him, crashed his head into the bars and took the other five prisoners.

Crowd Into Elevator
The seven crowded into a small elevator and ordered a Negro trustee to take them to the basement. The trusty, Horace Mosby, 35, who is 4 feet 4 and weighs 75 pounds, said they were armed with a length of chain, two knives, a club fashioned from metal slats, and a sharp-edged spoon. There were no guns.

Between the second and third floors, Baker ordered Mosby to stop the elevator.

"We're going for blood and death," said Baker. "You keep me covered and we'll all get out."

In the basement they rushed the jailer's office, where Foster and two deputies were talking. Foster jerked his .38 pistol out and emptied it. Then he grabbed another officer's .44 and fired it "several times."

Baker spun to the floor, dead. Ford fell at the base of the last door blocking the inmates' freedom. Leshner tried to run into another office but fell with a bullet in the back of his head.

Wed At Border Line

Jevan Uroevic, 30, stands on the Canadian side of the border as he kisses his bride, the former Mrs. Evangeline Karsai, 35, who is across the border line (bottom) in the United States at Detroit. The couple was wed at the international border line by Judge O. Z. Ide (right) after legal difficulties prevented the tie in either country.

Twisters Cause Damage In Dixie, Only One Death

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 22 (AP)—Tornadoes mauled areas of Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee today, inflicting widespread property loss but tonight only one death and surprisingly few injuries had been charged to the twisters and accompanying high winds.

Sgt. Harold Gomez of Camp Polk, La., was killed when wind felled a tree across his automobile near Leesville, La.

Heaviest property damage appeared to be at Columbia, La., a village in northern Louisiana, where Sheriff G. E. Erskine estimated at least $100,000 in losses when a twister unroofed more than half the business buildings. But here, as at most other places raked by the storms, there were no reports of deaths or serious injuries.

221 Killed Year Ago
In advance of the storms, the Weather Bureau had warned tornado-breeding conditions prevailed across much of the mid-South where a year ago this weekend these dreaded springtime killers wiped out 221 lives and did damage estimated up to 30 million dollars. The toll was heaviest in the area around Judsonia, Ark., where 110 perished.

As darkness fell, the Weather Bureau at Memphis lifted its tornado alert for southeast Missouri, east Arkansas, extreme west Tennessee and northwest Mississippi but the warnings remained in effect for other parts of west Tennessee and northeast Mississippi.

Beebe, Ark., was first to report destructive winds when two persons were injured and considerable property damage done shortly before noon. There was some doubt as to whether this was a true tornado or just high winds.

Beebe is 50 miles north of Little Rock and near Judsonia.

Farm Buildings Wrecked
Shortly before 3 p. m., EST, a small twister dipped down between the Jonesboro, Arkansas, airport and the hamlet of Mount Palace. No deaths or injuries were reported but some farm buildings were blown down.

At about the same time, a small tornado struck Winnfield, Louisiana, destroying one house. Fierce gusts of wind buffeted Newbern and four other small communities in the Dyersburg, Tenn., region but again loss appeared to be confined to relatively minor property damage.

UAW Backs Proposed Merger Of AFL, CIO
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 22 (INS)—The CIO, United Auto Workers today adopted a resolution approving proposed merger of the AFL and CIO.

CIO President Walter Reuther announced at the same time that the CIO-AFL Labor Unity Committee will meet in Washington April 7 to discuss merger.

Reuther told the nearly 3,800 delegates at the 14th convention of the UAW that the CIO representatives will work hard to bring about a united labor movement but "will not compromise our principles as a matter of political expediency."

Correspondence Courses Urged For Rural Doctors

ST. LOUIS, March 22 (AP)—Correspondence courses for country doctors to help them keep up-to-date on the march of medicine were suggested today by the president of the nation's organized family doctors.

Dr. R. B. Robins of Camden, Ark., president of the American Academy of General Practice, said a correspondence system already had been started by a Canadian hospital.

And he declared it might be well for the AAGP to experiment with it as a means of helping doctors "in one-doctor or two-doctor rural towns" possibly isolated from medical centers.

He told the Congress of Delegates at the opening of the acad-

Modern Cowboy Uses Motorcycle

WHITEFORD, Md., March 22 (AP)—Maryland's most modern cowboy takes to the field these spring days on a one-cylinder motorcycle.

Glen Salmons says its the fastest and easiest way to round up a herd of nearly 50 dairy cows. Salmons lives in this Harford County town just south of the Mason-Dixon line, but manages his grandfather's 22-acre dairy farm six miles away.

Marines Smash Chinese Assault

SEOUL, Monday, March 23 (AP)—U. S. 2nd Division and South Korean raiders blasted Red caves and tunnels at two points on the thawing Western Korean front Sunday while U. S. Marines fought off a 500-man Chinese attack.

The U. S. Eighth Army said Allied troops killed more than 200 Chinese in three western hill fights alone. Dozens of other Reds died in smaller clashes along the muddy 135-mile battle front.

U. S. Thunderjet fighter-bombers attacked a railroad switching yard near Namso, about 45 miles below the border of Manchuria. The Fifth Air Force said 15 tank and boxcars were destroyed or damaged and two violent secondary explosions left the marshalling yard in flames.

Sabres swept Mig Alley, daring Communist fighters to come out like they had on Saturday when 13 Red jets were destroyed or damaged. Perhaps because of poor weather, the Red planes stayed at their nearby Manchurian bases.

The Air Force revealed belatedly that 16 MIGs penetrated to Sariwon, within 60 miles of the western battle line, Saturday before they were turned back by Sabres. It was the deepest such penetration in recent months.

Protective Measure

WASHINGTON, March 22 (INS)—Rep. Kean (R-N. J.), said today he will offer Monday a bill to prevent loss of full social security benefits by persons who become disabled before reaching the age of 65.

Some wept with emotion at the sight of their homeland. Others boldly quoted Communist propaganda themes.

The repatriates, stranded in China since the end of World War II, docked here aboard the ship Koan Maru early today. They sailed from Chinwangtao, sea anchorage of the Great Wall.

They said the Canadian system was designed to help doctors in general prepare for examinations of the American Board of Surgery and the Royal College of Surgeons of Canada. But he indicated the same system might be especially adapted in this country and aimed particularly at helping rural doctors keep abreast of the latest developments in medicine.

Couldn't Meet Red Offensive, Senators Told

Former Eighth Army Boss Was Forced To Hoard Ammunition

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet has given senators a shocking secret estimate that the U. S. Eighth Army does not have enough ammunition to meet a Communist offensive in Korea.

He said: "Should the enemy start something which is unpredictable then do we have enough to meet this offensive, and I say 'No.'"

His testimony, together with that of top Pentagon chiefs, caused Senators Flanders (R-Vt.) and Case (R-SD) to question whether the ammunition shortage hadn't been in fact part of a deliberate government policy to hold the army in check.

Van Fleet gave his testimony to the Senate Armed Services Committee March 5, 6 and 10. Most of it was kept secret until today when the group decided the public should have the full story as they had heard it, except for portions bearing on national security.

Situation Better Now
The former Eighth Army commander said he understood the situation is better now than it was when he left Korea last month. But he made it clear he is in direct disagreement with his Pentagon superiors on how much ammunition the Army should shoot and what the Army's mission in Korea should be. He favors a more aggressive policy.

Senators used such words in the record as "tragic," "shocking" and "unbelievable" as Van Fleet told them:

1. The troops in Korea "have to be in trouble in order to shoot" heavy weapons and then they have only enough supplies for "merely a protective action to save themselves." He was referring to ammunition for 81-millimeter mortars and 105 and 155-millimeter howitzers.

2. He had been forced to issue "no shoot" orders to his gunners in order to hoard dwindling supplies, and at one time in May, 1951, there wasn't a shell left in his supply dumps — only shells at the gun pits.

3. Gen. Mark W. Clark, supreme commander of the Far Eastern forces, told him last November the United Nations forces had to cut down their rate of fire against the enemy to conserve ammunition.

4. The Chinese and North Korean Reds now have twice as much artillery on the firing line as the U. N. forces — and the enemy has "adequate" ammunition supplies.

5. Victory can be achieved in Korea if the army is "given the means" which would mean more ammunition and more manpower.

6. In June, 1951, the Allied Army had the Reds retreating "in a panic" and "I was crying" to be turned loose. He said he thought at that time he could have pursued the enemy, captured 200,000 to 300,000 prisoners and "all his heavy equipment." But he added he was

Some Nip Repatriates Weep, Others Defiant

MAIZURI, Japan, Monday, March 23 (AP)—A shipload of 2,009 Japanese came home today from years spent in China under the Nationalists and the Reds.

Some wept with emotion at the sight of their homeland. Others boldly quoted Communist propaganda themes.

The repatriates, stranded in China since the end of World War II, docked here aboard the ship Koan Maru early today. They sailed from Chinwangtao, sea anchorage of the Great Wall.

Matter of Fact

U. S. Failed To Grasp Meaning Of Atom Bomb In Soviet Hands

six bombs. Yet the radar photograph plainly showed that these six bombs, if equipped with atomic warheads, would have put an end to the Mainbrace task force.

The army endlessly boasts of its atomic cannon. But it says nothing about the effect of atomic bombs on ground force planning. President Eisenhower's own plans for the NATO defense of Western Europe squarely depends on the West European ports to supply the armies in the field. Yet all those ports are hardly defended in the air, and all are within easy range of the Soviet twin-engine jet bombers, capable of delivering atomic bombs, which are now stationed in East Germany.

The Air Force is strong on atomic striking power, and keeps repeating that "offense is the best defense." Hence air defense has consistently been given a low priority. And now come the scientists of Project Lincoln and the Summer Study Group, with their warning that the United States, including the bases of the Strategic Air Command, may be "devastated" by air-atomic attack within two years.

The plain truth is that the uniformed services have blindly gone on behaving as though the American atomic monopoly had never been broken. So has the civilian leadership. The civilian leaders have done everything to conceal from our people the great change in their situation. They have done nothing to educate the country about the problem to be solved or the danger to be overcome. And so the first reports of the need for a huge air defense program are greeted with incredulity and alarm.

The first truth to be recognized, if we are now to be honest with ourselves, is that the Soviet atomic bomb has altered the familiar face of our world. It has not merely undermined many of our tactical and strategic concepts. It has also rendered this country seriously vulnerable to foreign attack for the first time in more than a century.

The second truth to be recognized, which is also important, is that the Soviet atomic bomb symbolizes an even larger process. The great changes wrought by the collapse of the American atomic monopoly were not the first such changes and will not be the last. Military technology is now rapidly, remorselessly, advancing, in all its ugly branches. This technological surge must hereafter be treated as one of the central factors in American military planning and national policy-making.

By any proper test, the news that the brilliant scientists of Project Lincoln and the Summer Study Group have now designed an effective air defense, ought to be greeted as the best news heard in a long time. The need for a truly effective air defense has long been glaringly obvious. But until the Project Lincoln — Summer Study Group scientists reported their findings, an effective air defense seemed to be a technical impossibility. The American government has been shown how to meet a crying need, and there should be rejoicing, instead of long faces, at the National Security Council table at this moment.

There will be rejoicing, and there will be a return of national self-confidence if only there is an end of self-deception and wishfulness. Surely it is not impossible for this country to make the necessary national effort, even at the expense of changing national habit patterns. Surely America has only to see that a job has got to be done, in order to go out and do it, boldly and without lamenting.

ordered to stop as the truce talks began.

Steel Strike Cut Production

7. Gen. Clark told him the steel strike had knocked out 37 per cent of the 1952 ammunition production.

Under Secretary of the Army Johnson later said the strike affected production adversely but that Clark's figure of 37 per cent was too high.

8. The Army in Korea is being forced to depend on the Air Force for strikes at the enemy which could be handled by artillery, given enough ammunition.

9. When he first went to Korea, artillery strength in each division averaged 2½ battalions compared to 12 battalions in each division fighting in Europe in World War II. He added this strength had been built up until there is enough artillery and mortar pieces, but the Army is still 80 battalions below World War II strength.

10. The Pentagon at first thought the Korean War could be fought out of old World War II ammunition stocks — and production was slow in getting under way.

11. He indicated strongly he thinks the Pentagon is using outmoded World War II experience tables for determining the number of rounds of ammunition needed daily by each gun and mortar in Korea. He said the 40 rounds per gun per day of World War II experience don't meet the needs in Korea, where fewer guns must do the job that many more guns did in the last war.

Md. Demos Boast

He made it plain during his appearance before the General Assembly at the beginning of the session, however, that he was "not wedded" to the submitted budget and would welcome any suggested changes the Legislature might offer.

Logan said he was trying to work out with the State Fiscal Research Bureau a way in which the General Assembly itself could make the committee's two-million-dollar cut apply directly on the state property tax.

The cut would amount to a 2.75 per cent reduction in the property tax. This, plus the two previous cuts during the session of the property tax for 1953-54, would bring it down from the 11.29 cents recommended by McKeldin to about 5.67 cents. This would be the lowest state property tax since it was begun in 1878. The present record low was six cents, in 1951, last budgetary year of former Gov. Lane. The highest was 30 cents in 1901-03.

Negro Woman, Two Daughters Are Slain

NEWBERRY, S. C., March 22 (AP)—A Negro woman and her two young daughters were brutally beaten to death with smashing blows from a piece of stovewood at their home near here early today.

A paroled Negro convict was arrested on suspicion a few hours later.

The three bodies were piled in a heap just inside the front door of their small cabin where the husband and father, Horace De Walt, found them.

Hunt For 'Acid' Bank Bandit Continues

FORT MEADE, Md., March 22 (AP)—Authorities inspected an acid-stained piece of wood today in hopes it would shed some light on the brazen robber who escaped with $20,000 at a branch bank here.

Some of the bubbling liquid spilled out of the fruit jar as the bandit turned to leave with his sack of money last Friday. He had forced Stuart W. Dorset, 24-year-old manager of the bank, to turn over the bills on the threat of hurling the liquid into the face of Miss Hazel Gore, 29, a woman teller.

Sen. McCarthy Visits Whittaker Chambers

WESTMINSTER, Md., March 22 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) last night visited Whittaker Chambers, confessed former Communist spy-ring courier, at the Chambers farm home near here.

Chambers' wife said McCarthy "made a personal visit and stayed for dinner."

"There's no harm in having dinner with the Senator, is there?" she said. "After all, he is a charming man."

Playwright's Wife Suicide

NEW CITY, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—Mrs. Gertrude Anderson, 48-year-old wife of Maxwell Anderson, the playwright, was found dead today in the garage on the Anderson estate here and authorities called it a suicide.

Mrs. Anderson, the second wife of the 65-year-old Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright, had been separated from her husband for several months, close friends of the family said tonight.

Mrs. Anderson, formerly an actress, was found seated in her car in the tightly closed garage.

She was clad in a nightgown and a mink coat.

Ernest F. Wiebicke, chief of police of Clarkstown Township which includes New City, told newsmen: "I am really satisfied that it was a suicide from carbon monoxide poisoning. She had been dead from 24 to 36 hours."

Anderson, who has been in Hollywood for the past four months, learned there of his wife's death and left immediately by plane for New York.

A suicide verdict also was given by Dr. M. J. Moses, Rockland County coroner, who told of finding three letters written by the Canadian-born Mrs. Anderson.

Detrick And Aberdeen Building Ban Lifted

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The army has announced the lifting of bans on construction projects at Camp Detrick, Md., near Frederick and the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground.

They were among projects ordered suspended nearly two months ago by Secretary of Defense Wilson pending a review of their urgency.

Army officials announced yesterday that after a review, projects in 14 states and Alaska totaling $44,381,500 were cleared for work to continue.

The Camp Detrick project totals $3,216,500. The Aberdeen work was listed at $1,310,000.

Oddities In News

Bus Driver, Fed Up With Comments Of Women Passengers, Quits Job

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Civilization marched ahead last week, but here and there people fell out of step with its giant strides.

The auto is a great invention, yet look what it did:

In Detroit, bus driver Ernest Hazelton got tired of women passengers' comments about his driving.

"All right, ladies," he shouted, "you want to drive the thing—drive it!"

Hazelton got out of the bus and walked back to the terminal.

"I'm sick of people," he said. "I quit!"

In Chicago, Pasquale Grinaldi joined a crowd peering into the Chicago River where it flowed past a parking lot. Somebody said someone's car had rolled into the river and sunk out of sight.

"Aw, the poor guy," murmured Grinaldi sympathetically.

Then he went to look for his car. He couldn't find it. It had rolled into the river and sunk out of sight.

Pope Pius Addresses Crowd Of 150,000

VATICAN CITY, March 22 (AP)—Pope Pius appeared on his balcony overlooking the square of St. Peter's today for the first time since his weakening illness of last month, and addressed a crowd of 150,000 for seven minutes.

The gathering in the square before the great basilica included 50,000 delegates to a National Italian Farmers Convention.

In a voice resonant, clear and strong, he greeted the farmers, lauded their productive work and gave his apostolic benediction to all who are engaged in meeting the world's great need for more food.

And here's to Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. A great convenience, the telephone, but it can lead to misunderstandings:

In Salt Lake City an indignant woman phoned the police that a man was running down the street in his underwear.

Police found a prizefighter doing road work.

In Newburyport, Mass., firemen received a phone call from someone identifying himself as Superintendent of Schools Rupert A. Nock. They complied with the caller's request to sound the "no school" signal for the first four grades.

Nock, of course, had no idea who called the firemen.

U. S. Failed To Grasp Meaning Of Atom Bomb In Soviet Hands

six bombs. Yet the radar photograph plainly showed that these six bombs, if equipped with atomic warheads, would have put an end to the Mainbrace task force.

The army endlessly boasts of its atomic cannon. But it says nothing about the effect of atomic bombs on ground force planning. President Eisenhower's own plans for the NATO defense of Western Europe squarely depends on the West European ports to supply the armies in the field. Yet all those ports are hardly defended in the air, and all are within easy range of the Soviet twin-engine jet bombers, capable of delivering atomic bombs, which are now stationed in East Germany.

The Air Force is strong on atomic striking power, and keeps repeating that "offense is the best defense." Hence air defense has consistently been given a low priority. And now come the scientists of Project Lincoln and the Summer Study Group, with their warning that the United States, including the bases of the Strategic Air Command, may be "devastated" by air-atomic attack within two years.

The plain truth is that the uniformed services have blindly gone on behaving as though the American atomic monopoly had never been broken. So has the civilian leadership. The civilian leaders have done everything to conceal from our people the great change in their situation. They have done nothing to educate the country about the problem to be solved or the danger to be overcome. And so the first reports of the need for a huge air defense program are greeted with incredulity and alarm.

The first truth to be recognized, if we are now to be honest with ourselves, is that the Soviet atomic bomb has altered the familiar face of our world. It has not merely undermined many of our tactical and strategic concepts. It has also rendered this country seriously vulnerable to foreign attack for the first time in more than a century.

The second truth to be recognized, which is also important, is that the Soviet atomic bomb symbolizes an even larger process. The great changes wrought by the collapse of the American atomic monopoly were not the first such changes and will not be the last. Military technology is now rapidly, remorselessly, advancing, in all its ugly branches. This technological surge must hereafter be treated as one of the central factors in American military planning and national policy-making.

By any proper test, the news that the brilliant scientists of Project Lincoln and the Summer Study Group have now designed an effective air defense, ought to be greeted as the best news heard in a long time. The need for a truly effective air defense has long been glaringly obvious. But until the Project Lincoln — Summer Study Group scientists reported their findings, an effective air defense seemed to be a technical impossibility. The American government has been shown how to meet a crying need, and there should be rejoicing, instead of long faces, at the National Security Council table at this moment.

There will be rejoicing, and there will be a return of national self-confidence if only there is an end of self-deception and wishfulness. Surely it is not impossible for this country to make the necessary national effort, even at the expense of changing national habit patterns. Surely America has only to see that a job has got to be done, in order to go out and do it, boldly and without lamenting.

Steel Strike Cut Production

7. Gen. Clark told him the steel strike had knocked out 37 per cent of the 1952 ammunition production. Under Secretary of the Army Johnson later said the strike affected production adversely but that Clark's figure of 37 per cent was too high.

8. The Army in Korea is being forced to depend on the Air Force for strikes at the enemy which could be handled by artillery, given enough ammunition.

9. When he first went to Korea, artillery strength in each division averaged 2½ battalions compared to 12 battalions in each division fighting in Europe in World War II. He added this strength had been built up until there is enough artillery and mortar pieces, but the Army is still 80 battalions below World War II strength.

10. The Pentagon at first thought the Korean War could be fought out of old World War II ammunition stocks — and production was slow in getting under way.

11. He indicated strongly he thinks the Pentagon is using out-moded World War II experience tables for determining the number of rounds of ammunition needed daily by each gun and mortar in Korea. He said the 40 rounds per gun per day of World War II experience don't meet the needs in Korea, where fewer guns must do the job that many more guns did in the last war.

Md. Demos Boast

He made it plain during his appearance before the General Assembly at the beginning of the session, however, that he was "not wedded" to the submitted budget and would welcome any suggested changes the Legislature might offer.

Logan said he was trying to work out with the State Fiscal Research Bureau a way in which the General Assembly itself could make the committee's two-million-dollar cut apply directly on the state property tax. The cut would amount to a 2.75 cent reduction in the property tax. This, plus the two previous cuts during the session of the property tax for 1953-54, would bring it down from the 11.29 cents recommended by McKeldin to about 5.67 cents. This would be the lowest state property tax since it was begun in 1878. The present record low was six cents, in 1951, last budgetary year of former Gov. Lane. The highest was 30 cents in 1901-03.

Negro Woman, Two Daughters Are Slain

NEWBERRY, S. C., March 22 (AP)—A Negro woman and her two young daughters were brutally beaten to death with smashing blows from a piece of stovepipe at their home near here early today.

A paroled Negro convict was arrested on suspicion a few hours later.

The three bodies were piled in a heap just inside the front door of their small cabin where the husband and father, Horace De Walt, found them.

Hunt For 'Acid' Bank Bandit Continues

FORT MEADE, Md., March 22 (AP)—Authorities inspected an acid-stained piece of wood today in hopes it would shed some light on the brazen robber who escaped with $20,000 at a branch bank here.

Some of the bubbling liquid spilled out of the fruit jar as the bandit turned to leave with his sack of money last Friday. He had forced Stuart W. Dorset, 24-year-old manager of the bank, to turn over the bills on the threat of hurling the liquid into the face of Miss Hazel Gore, 29, a woman teller.

WESTMINSTER, Md., March 22 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) last night visited Whittaker Chambers, confessed former Communist spy, at the Chambers farm home near here.

Chambers' wife said McCarthy "made a personal visit and stayed for dinner."

"There's no harm in having dinner with the Senator, is there?" she said. "After all, he is a charming man."

Playwright's Wife Suicide

NEW CITY, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—Mrs. Gertrude Anderson, 48-year-old wife of Maxwell Anderson, the playwright, was found dead today in the garage on the Anderson estate here and authorities called it a suicide.

Mrs. Anderson, the second wife of the 65-year-old Pulitzer Prize winning playwright, had been separated from her husband for several months, close friends of the family said tonight.

Mrs. Anderson, formerly an actress, was found seated in her car in the tightly closed garage.

She was clad in a nightgown and a mink coat.

Ernest F. Wiebecke, chief of police of Clarkstown Township which includes New City, told newsmen: "I am really satisfied that it was a suicide from carbon monoxide poisoning. She had been dead from 24 to 36 hours."

Anderson, who has been in Hollywood for the past four months, learned there of his wife's death and left immediately by plane for New York.

A suicide verdict also was given by Dr. M. J. Moses, Rockland County coroner, who told of finding three letters written by the Canadian-born Mrs. Anderson.

Detrick And Aberdeen Building Ban Lifted

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The army has announced the lifting of bans on construction projects at Camp Detrick, Md., near Frederick and the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground.

They were among projects ordered suspended nearly two months ago by Secretary of Defense Wilson pending a review of their urgency.

Army officials announced yesterday that after a review, projects in 14 states and Alaska totaling $44,381,500 were cleared for work to continue.

The Camp Detrick project totals $3,216,500. The Aberdeen work was listed at $1,310,000.

Oddities In News

Bus Driver, Fed Up With Comments Of Women Passengers, Quits Job

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Civilization marched ahead last week, but here and there people fell out of step with its giant strides.

The auto is a great invention, yet look what it did:

In Detroit, bus driver Ernest Hazelton got tired of women passengers' comments about his driving.

"All right, ladies," he shouted, "you want to drive the thing—drive it!"

Hazelton got out of the bus and walked back to the terminal.

"I'm sick of people," he said. "I quit!"

In Chicago, Pasquale Grinaldi joined a crowd peering into the Chicago River where it flowed past a parking lot. Somebody said someone's car had rolled into the river and sunk out of sight.

"Aw, the poor guy," murmured Grinaldi sympathetically.

Then he went to look for his car. He couldn't find it. It had rolled into the river and sunk out of sight.

The world owes a debt to Thomas A. Edison, inventor of the electric light.

In Indianapolis his invention threw the manager of a swank downtown apartment building into panic. The manager took a look at the neon sign over the entrance to the building, the Essex House, and yelled for an electrician. The first two letters of the sign weren't lighted.

And here's to Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. A great convenience, the telephone, but it can lead to misunderstandings:

In Salt Lake City an indignant woman phoned the police that a man was running down the street in his underwear.

Police found a prizefighter doing road work.

In Newburyport, Mass., firemen received a phone call from someone identifying himself as Superintendent of Schools Rupert A. Nock. They complied with the caller's request to sound the "no school" signal for the first four grades.

Nock, of course, had no idea who called the firemen.

HOW MUCH will they "NICK" you for?

Maybe you do — maybe you don't have a lot of valuables around the house. But it isn't just diamonds and furs, sterling silver and cash that burglars and sneak thieves carry away. Anything that would cost you money to replace is "loot" to those boys, and will be covered under the theft policy we would like to write for you.

May we tell you more?

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, (INS) — The passing show:—

The few photographs of Fatsio Malenkov released by Sovfoto to date make him look exactly like one of Jackie Gleason's comic characters. Which brings up the question of the power of ridicule and the weapon of scorn.

Mussolini was a feared man until Roosevelt hit him with the brand of furtive knife-thrower and Churchill, a man in whom the curious gift of derision reaches a high level, called him names which caused Benito to howl in pain. "The Dictator" took a lot of menace out of the leader of the Nazis and made him out the crazy fool he was.

Nobody kidded about Stalin, and perhaps as a consequence he was a thousand times more successful and more feared over a longer period than Hitler and Mussolini combined. It was a mistake on our part, I think, not to have found a method of puncturing the superman legend of this deceptively benign-looking devil who possibly caused the deaths of more persons than any man in history.

We should not let Malenkov get too much of a start before we make him and his acts ludicrous to inspect. He did not capture much more than a splinter of Stalin's absolute power and, therefore, is more easily hurt by such shafts. His very girth could cause him and the Communist cause much discomfiture if properly exploited. For two generations the Reds, in their cartoon propaganda, have associated excessive avoirdupois with the West. The hated Americans have always been pictured as bay-windowed with dollar signs on their ample vests.

One of the few American comic strips which weathered the clanging down of the Iron Curtain on all influences from the West was Otto Sogolow's delightful "Little King." The puppet papers ran it because they felt it decided royalty.

If the captive people fell for a line like that they'd surely fall for one leaflet program we might have which attracted attention to the fact that Fatsio Malenkov might very well have posed for Sogolow's monarch. We should tell the Red-dominated peoples that in his spare time he models for Soviet cartoonists assigned to condemn "American imperialism" by linking it with an expanded waistline.

Anyway, Fatsio is the greatest natural for a good lampooning job since Mussolini and his snow-pow chin. And Gleason's my choice to get the ridiculing under way. Might knock him off or soften him quicker than a much more costly anti-Communist program.

On the night of President Eisenhower's first news conference the guests on my TV show were four of Washington's top correspondents. By and large they thought the President was unnecessarily brusque; in fact, that they had been given the brusque-off.

Well, sir, the mail is all in now and it overwhelmingly says, "who do you guys think you are? Any way?"

It's helpful to be checked up on now and then, I think, or the human inclination is to regard yourself as a true oracle as time goes on and scrapbooks fatten.

Reminds me of a sportswriting experience of years ago. I was official scorer of a game at Griffith Stadium wherein Joe Kuhel, the Washington first baseman, was arbitrarily charged with an error. The decision made Joe so angry that he wanted to beat up the entire Washington Chapter of the Baseball Writers of America, and darn near did.

Full of boyish indignation a committee of us called on Clark Griffith and told him of this inhuman department on Kuhel's part and demanded some kind of reparation. Grifff wearily wiggled a gabled eyebrow and fined Kuhel $100 for his attack on the press.

The day after our stories appeared, Kuhel received a letter containing $100. The bills were old and worn as if they constituted the sender's life's savings. Attached was a little note which read, "Dear Joe, take another punch at them bums."

Somehow, my newspaper life has been tempered by that experience. (Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

TWO TELLING REASONS

THERE are two telling reasons—and "telling" is doubly the correct word—for refraining from showing an additional biddable suit after you have learned that your partner has a satisfactory fit for one major. The first is that such extra information may tell your opponents the best defense if your side winds up with the contract. The other is that it may guide the other fellow on how to play if he becomes the declarer.

New Acne Treatment

1. Before washing the face, always wash the hands with facial soap and dry them.
2. Cosmetic users should next apply a cosmetic cleanser prescribed for oily skin. (There are several opaque bases for make-up that can be used without irritation to acne conditions).
3. Hand bathe the face with a soapless shaving cream. Or, if preferred, it may be applied with a fresh sterile gauze pad. When the skin is excessively oily, this laving routine should be carried out four times daily. Rinse well.
4. A night treatment product for acne should be used faithfully. Ask your doctor to recommend one of these new products.

Success Assured

5. Keeping in mind that the scalp is only a continuation of the face, a shampoo three times per week is imperative until your acne clears. Apply the same lather to your hair and scalp that you use on your face. Rinse until the water is clear.

To this care, add a check-up with your doctor and a well-balanced diet that is cut to the bone of sweets and fats. Nature's sun baths or lamp rays are also conducive to healthier complexion if you avoid even the slightest burn.

Most important, train yourself so that your hands never touch your face except when they are immaculate.

It takes some time to rid your skin of acne. No change will be en. Where the bidding went as at Table 1, with East and West showing no suit except the hearts, the contract was downed. Where the bidding included showing the spade suit, South used that knowledge to make his contract.

Let's look at the play where hearts alone were advertised. The heart K was ruffed, the diamond 3 led to the A, dropping the K, the club 2 was led to the A, and later on West could not be prevented from taking a trick with the club Q in addition to East's spade A.

Where the spades were shown, the first two tricks were the same ruff of the heart K and then the diamond A. But this South, knowing East had spade length, counted on West for the clubs. So his third trick was the club K and then he finessed the club 10 to shut out the Q. That assured his contract—by grace of East's spade bid.

The Old Second Guesser

by John Wheeler

No Wound Stripes On Quail Hunts

UNION SPRINGS, Ala. — The Old Second Guesser was outguessed by a lot of quail around here while making his annual pilgrimage.

"Do you feel all right this morning?" asked Hobson Cresswell who runs the show and is probably the best bird shot in the state.

"Yes, I feel fine today and so do those quail I shot at yesterday," I reassured him.

"We'll go out again this afternoon and start about 2 o'clock," he added.

"Let's try it where there are fewer birds, and we won't have to get on and off our horses so often," I said.

This remark surprised him, as most visitors go after the partridges as if they were North Koreans, but, even if you get shot, you don't rate a wound stripe and neither do the crippled quail. For the benefit of any of my readers who are not familiar with the rules, I will explain the hunters start out on horses with good dogs and ride until one of them points — a dog, not a horse, or a hunter. Then you dismount and attack.

The first time out, there were three of us, one being the pretty, shooting wife of her husband who was along. Frequently, there is a hazard in a female companion with a gun who may have too much enthusiasm and be a little trigger happy, because, at a quick glance, she cannot tell a bird from a hunter. This lady proved to be steady-going and reliable, but until I got used to her, I was watching her closely and not the dogs, being ready to duck promptly. It hurts just as much to be wounded by a good-looking girl as a homely one.

Finally, three setters froze on a point which I consider a beautiful sight. We walked in ahead of them and one poor little partridge got up that I shot. It turned out to be a lone bird which was eating her supper when found by our safari — men, horses, and dogs.

"Why did you shoot a hen?" asked my girl friend after Hobson had announced the sex. "I thought you were born under Aries and understood about women."

"That's an overstatement," I replied as I climbed back in my saddle. "Men don't know about women, and even women don't know about women."

Pretty soon we came to another covey, and Annie Oakley let go with one barrel and two birds hit the dust. Everybody was surprised including the quail, I guess.

"Nice shot," I told her. She took it in her stride.

"I waited until I saw both of them in my sights," she explained. "Did you have your eyes open or shut?" I asked her in my smart-aleck way.

This reminded me of Hal Sims, the great bridge player and one of the most entertaining liars I ever met.

"I was a poor boy down in Alabama and couldn't afford many shotgun shells," he told Grant Rice and me once. "I never pulled the trigger until I saw two birds cross on a covey rise."

I suppose he also picked out the males or cocks before he fired. Anyway, it's fun, and I recommend it if you have any rich friends you can visit.

The few photographs of Fatso Malenkov released by Sovfoto to date make him look exactly like one of Jackie Gleason's comic characters. Which brings up the question of the power of ridicule and the weapon of scorn.

Mussolini was a feared man until Roosevelt hit him with the brand of furtive knife-thrower and Churchill, a man in whom the curious gift of derision reaches a high level, called him names which caused Benito to howl in pain. Chaplin's mimicry of Hitler in "The Dictator" took a lot of men out of the leader of the Nazis and made him out the crazy fool he was.

Nobody kidded about Stalin, and perhaps as a consequence he was a thousand times more successful and more feared over a longer period than Hitler and Mussolini combined. It was a mistake on our part, I think, not to have found a method of puncturing the superman legend of this deceptively benign-looking devil who possibly caused the deaths of more persons than any man in history.

We should not let Malenkov get too much of a start before we make him and his acts ludicrous to inspect. He did not capture much more than a splinter of Stalin's absolute power and, therefore, is more easily hurt by such shafts. His very girth could cause much discomfort if properly exploited. For two generations the Reds, in their cartoon propaganda, have associated excessive avoirdupois with the West. The hated Americans have always been pictured as bay-windowed with dollar signs on their ample vests.

One of the few American comic strips which weathered the clanging down of the Iron Curtain on all influences from the West was Otto Sogolow's delightful "Little King." The puppet papers ran it because they felt it derided reality.

If the captive people fell for a line like that they'd surely fall for any leaflet program we might have which attracted attention to the fact that Fatso Malenkov might very well have posed for Sogolow's monarch. We should tell the Red-dominated peoples that in his spare time he models for Soviet cartoonists assigned to condemn "American imperialism" by linking it with an expanded waistline.

Anyway, Fatso is the greatest natural for a good lampooning job since Mussolini and his snow-plow chin. And Gleason's my choice to get the ridiculing under way. Might knock him off or soften him quicker than a much more costly anti-Communist program.

On the night of President Eisenhower's first news conference the guests on my TV show were four of Washington's top correspondents. By and large they thought the President was unnecessarily brusque; in fact, that they had given the brusque-off.

Well, sir, the mail is all in now and it overwhelmingly says, "who do you guys think you are? Anyways?"

It's helpful to be checked up on now and then, I think, or the human inclination is to regard yourself as a true oracle as time goes on and scrapbooks fatten.

Reminds me of a sportswriting experience of years ago. I was official scorer of a game at Griffith Stadium wherein Joe Kuhel, the Washington first baseman, was arbitrarily charged with an error. The decision made Joe so angry that he wanted to beat up the entire Washington Chapter of the Baseball Writers of America, and darn near did.

Full of boyish indignation a committee of us called on Clark Griffith and told him of this inhuman department on Kuhel's part and demanded some kind of reparation. Griff wearily wiggled a gabled eyebrow and fined Kuhel $100 for his attack on the press.

The day after our stories appeared, Kuhel received a letter containing $100. The bills were old and worn as if they constituted the sender's life's savings. Attached was a little note which read, "Dear Joe, take another punch at them bums."

Somehow, my newspaper life has been tempered by that experience.

Good news for acne sufferers! A new home treatment described here today will improve complexions!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Just the knowledge that acne responds to treatment helps to improve the condition because it lessens the emotional toll of nagging fears and a feeling of unsightliness. And, something new has been added to the home treatment—the use of a soapless shaving cream as a lathering agent. Such creams are free from the irritants usually contained in soap to which skins subject to acne are generally sensitive. Ask your druggist about them. He can recommend several.

Putting acne to rout calls for absolute cleanliness of face, scalp and hands. But how you cleanse is most important. Scrubbing with a brush or rough cloth intensifies and might spread the infection. Great gentleness combined with thoroughness achieve results. Here's what gets those results.

TWO TELLING REASONS

THERE are two telling reasons—and "telling" is doubly the correct word—for refraining from showing an additional biddable suit after you have learned that your partner has a satisfactory fit for one major. The first is that such extra information may tell your opponents the best defense if your side winds up with the contract. The other is that it may guide the other fellow on how to play if he becomes the declarer.

The Old Second Guesser

by John Wheeler

No Wound Stripes On Quail Hunts

UNION SPRINGS, Ala. — The Old Second Guesser was outguessed by a lot of quail around here while making his annual pilgrimage.

"Do you feel all right this morning?" asked Hobson Cresswell who runs the show and is probably the best bird shot in the state.

"Yes, I feel fine today and so do those quail I shot at yesterday," I reassured him.

"We'll go out again this afternoon and start about 2 o'clock," he added.

"Let's try it where there are fewer birds, and we won't have to get on and off our horses so often," I said.

This remark surprised him, as most visitors go after the partidges as if they were North Koreans, but, even if you get shot, you don't rate a wound stripe and neither do the crippled quail. For the benefit of any of my readers who are not familiar with the rules, I will explain the hunters start out on horses with good dogs and ride until one of them points — a dog, not a horse, or a hunter. Then you dismount and attack.

The first time out, there were three of us, one being the pretty, shooting wife of her husband who was along. Frequently, there is a hazard in a female companion with a gun who may have too much enthusiasm and be a little trigger happy, because, at a quick glance, she cannot tell a bird from a hunter. This lady proved to be steady-going and reliable, but until I got used to her, I was watching her closely and not the dogs, being ready to duck promptly. It hurts just as much to be wounded by a good-looking girl as a homely one.

Finally, three setters froze on a point which I consider a beautiful sight. We waited in ahead of them and one poor little partridge got up that I shot. It turned out to be a lone bird which was eating her supper when found by our safari—men, horses, and dogs.

"Why did you shoot a hen?" asked my girl friend after Hobson had announced the sex. "I thought you were born under Aries and understood about women."

"That's an overstatement," I replied as I climbed back in my saddle. "Men don't know about women, and even women don't know about women."

Pretty soon we came to another covey, and Annie Oakley let go with one barrel and two birds bit the dust. Everybody was surprised including the quail, I guess.

"Nice shot," I told her. She took it in her stride.

"I waited until I saw both of them in my sights," she explained. "Did you have your eyes open or shut?" I asked her in my smart-aleck way.

This reminded me of Hal Sims, the great bridge player and one of the most entertaining liars I ever met.

"I was a poor boy down in Alabama and couldn't afford many shotgun shells," he told Grant Rice and me once. "I never pulled the trigger until I saw two birds cross on a covey rise."

I suppose he also picked out the males or cocks before he fired. Anyway, it's fun, and I recommend it if you have any rich friends you can visit.

Tax Cuts For More Revenue

Advocates of an immediate reduction in United States income tax rates are making much of widely reported tax reductions in other democratic nations. "We put $2 billion into Italy and she has just reduced her taxes so she can get more revenue," Chairman Reed (R., N. Y.) of the House Ways and Means Committee declared on March 12. "That seems to be a paradox some people cannot understand. France reduced her taxes and, she said, not only to bring tax relief and get more revenues but to create honesty among her people." Reed is sponsor of a bill ending as of July 1, 1953, when the corporation excess profits tax is due to expire, the 1951 boost of 11 per cent in the personal income tax rates.

The proposed reduction of French income taxes is to be accompanied by an accelerated system of tax collection. The government expresses the hope of collecting three years' taxes in two years. Employers would be required to withhold income taxes weekly. A government statement avers that at present "too many taxpayers use the excuse of too high a tax rate to evade their fiscal duty."

France has been making strenuous efforts to reduce tax evasion since 1948. It has consolidated all of its tax agencies under a single administration and has sent collectors to the United States to study American methods. Penalties for evasion have been increased.

Current individual income tax rates in France begin at 10 per cent for those earning more than $500 a year. On incomes of more than $17,000 a year the rate is 60 per cent.

But France collects 75 per cent of its total central government tax revenues in indirect taxes. In the United States only about 16 per cent of federal tax revenues comes from indirect levies.

The total tax burden in the United States amounts to 25.8 per cent of the gross national product. The corresponding ratio for France is 30.7 per cent. The ratio of taxes to gross national product is lower in the United States than in the United Kingdom (35 per cent), West Germany, Austria, the Netherlands, Belgium. But the ratio is higher in the United States than in Norway, Italy, Denmark, Greece, Turkey, Portugal.

The new Canadian budget calls for a reduction of 11 per cent in personal income taxes beginning July 1, 1953. Canadian income tax rates will thereby return to levels that obtained prior to the outbreak of hostilities in Korea. But Canada continues to exact a higher proportion of the gross national product in taxes than does the United States, much of the difference being made up in a 10 per cent general sales tax and a 15 per cent excises tax.

Despite the generally lower income tax rate in Canada, the new budget is expected to produce a surplus estimated at $11 million in the next fiscal year. Canada spends about 10.5 per cent of its national income on defense and mutual aid. Corresponding programs use up about 17 per cent of U. S. national income.

Paris In The Spring

Among other harbingers of you-know-what arriving at editorial desks lately is an intriguing little news letter called the Paris International Trade Fair Bulletin. The fair, which the editors say is the "shop window of the world," will be held May 9 to 25. There will be 11,000 exhibitors scattered over a 125-acre plot, and 3,000,000 visitors are expected.

This little news letter is, to say the least, intriguing. It is sort of a shop window in its own right. In the general interest category is the news that the Eiffel Tower is about to get a new coat of paint, and that the project will take until 1955.

When complete, this landmark will be a high visibility yellow at the top, a beige color in its middle, and "nut brown" at the bottom.

British investors are told that under a novel guarantee plan shareholders in the French utility Electricite de France cannot receive less than a 4.5 per cent return. If the cost of current goes up with the cost of living, interest value rises in proportion. It seems there is a free one-day tour around Paris, "ending with an evening at a Paris theater," for those telling a good anecdote about this most beautiful of all cities.

Little bit of everything, you see, plus a strong pull to entice those with weak resistance to dash over there and walk under the candelabra of chestnut blossoms and across the Seine bridges. The man who put this together shouldn't be permitted to run loose. He's too much of a Pied Piper.

Fast Footwork

Russians, it now appears, are the fastest people in the world on their feet. Real agile, that is. Dispatches from Moscow during the late sorrow, when even the UN flag in New York drooped at half staff, placed the number of the grieving which passed Stalin's coffin in a 48-hour period at 5,000,000. The figure had an unrealistic appearance, but most persons passed it off as merely slight exaggeration by a race that is noted for specialization in champion size lies.

But an accountant in Oklahoma who is genuinely adept at figures grabbed his pencil and came up with an interesting result.

If the Muscovites had dashed past Stalin's coffin, three abreast, at the rate of 22 miles an hour, fewer than 5,000,000 would have obtained a fleeting glimpse of the departed in 48 hours. Probably the characters in the Kremlin thought that the interment of the world's biggest liar rated a colossal whopper in his honor.

The Gardening Kick

It has been estimated that 30,000,000 Americans engage in varying degree in the fine old sport of gardening. The reasons for indulging are apparently as varied as the people who do the job.

The manager of a store that has everything for the gardener puts it this way: Everybody is on a gardening kick. Meaning, presumably, that everyone has succumbed to a mania which is only soothed by buying an assortment of implements to dig up the ground with and stuff to put in it.

This man says he gets all sorts of comments. Some people say they go in for gardening because flowers cannot talk back to them. Others like the sights and scents—the esthetic approach. Others grow vegetables until they come out of their ears and the whole family is driven to distraction some late summer weekend trying to can and freeze the crop before it goes to waste.

Remembering And Forgetting

Most of us would give an eyetooth to possess a good memory. Unfortunately, only a few have acquired the facility through natural endowment. The remainder of us have found that memory, like money, does not grow on trees; we must work hard to obtain it.

We all know of persons with amazing memories for particular items. A woman of my acquaintance is a wizard on telephone numbers, whereas another is an authority on the meaning of words. Almost every community boasts of a man or boy who can name all the baseball players and their averages since the days of Ty Cobb. There also is a limerick specialist who is able to amuse his friends for hours with "The Lady Named Grace" or "The Thin Man from Boston." These incredible feats are not always related to intelligence; some of the "dumbest" people are able to recall the darndest things.

Many of our most successful people do not have excellent memories. They have learned to select what they should remember and do not waste their time or clutter their minds with nonessential details. These men and women know where to locate information when it is needed. The chief advantage of this type of memory is its practicability. This is in contrast to the absent minded professor who is brilliant according to intelligence tests and knows his field backward and forward but has a difficult time getting along in the world once he leaves his classroom, laboratory, or study.

Can memory be improved? Yes; but the individual must discover the medium through which he learns best. Is it easier to bring back to mind what has been seen, heard or read? For the majority, sight is the best medium. Most people can remember faces but not names; they recall what has been seen better than what has been heard. The army found that many men who were considered of low intelligence became wizards when taught via visual aids. Apparently as children they had been taught incorrectly; had the teachers used blackboard demonstrations and other visual aids these boys might have retained most of the material to which they were exposed. Other youngsters learn better by ear and have found it more expedient to read aloud.

Memory can be improved by making more use of the sense with which we remember best. It is advisable not to neglect the other senses, however, because combinations often leave a more lasting impression. Studies have shown that we tend to forget the unpleasant things in life, which may explain why we neglect to pay bills, clean the basement, or darn the socks. In contrast, the umbrella is conveniently left at the home of a friend because unconsciously we want an excuse to return.

A good memory is not always to our advantage; occasionally it plays tricks. Most of us have had the experience of recalling something that happened, say five years ago. The conviction is so strong we are willing to bet our last dollar. When subsequent event prove us wrong we cannot understand because our memory of the event is so clear. Memory also is affected by the emotional system and it is easier to remember incidents that hold our interest.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Top Republicans Clash Over Capitol Hill Cocktails; Ike Guides Tourists Too Far Afield; Defense Chief Wilson Working Hard Against Odds

WASHINGTON—It has just bubbled to the surface, but two top Republicans got into a bitter, backstage wrangle last week over "hard liquor" being served in the Capitol Building. They were Congressmen John Saylor of Pennsylvania, who wanted to throw a "buffet supper" for his mother, and A. L. "Doc" Miller of Nebraska who called it a "cocktail party" and stopped it on the excuse that highballs would be served.

What caused the ruckus was Saylor's plan to use the House Interior Committee room for his get-together. As a subcommittee of this committee, Saylor made all the arrangements at his own expense and sent out invitations to committee members.

Among those invited was the committee's crotchety chairman, "Doc" Miller, who has been conducting a running feud with his fellow Republican subcommittee chairman, Miller promptly tattled to House Speaker Joe Martin about the cocktail party, then wrote Saylor an amazing letter threatening to "expose" him.

Miller's letter was never meant to be published. However, here is what he wrote: "I have your invitation to attend a 'little party' in the committee room . . . on March 19th. I want to call your attention to the recent conversation between us . . . When you asked if you could have the use of the committee room for a party, I said in effect that if hard liquor was to be served, I would not give that consent or be responsible for such a party. You replied in effect, 'Doctor, what is a party without a highball?'"

Salesmen

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla.—One of my readers has asked me if we all would not be better off without bothersome salesmen who get a foot in the door and sell things people don't want. This reader, a mother, said she hoped that her son wouldn't grow up to be just a salesman. She had higher aspirations for him.

The Salesman's Reputation

Why do so many people today look down upon the salesman? To get a clue to this, I tried a parlor game on a number of people, a test which, by the way, is standard psychological procedure used by many advertising agencies in preparing copy. I asked a number of people to write down, as rapidly as possible, the words that came to them when I mentioned the word "salesmen."

Try this experiment. You will get responses like this . . . life insurance, tomb stones, vacuum cleaners, television sets, silk stockings, women's lingerie, encyclopedias, silverware, "imported" linens, books, magazines, etc. Yet, those who call at your house to sell these things represent only about 2 per cent of the total force of this country. The 98 per cent are selling to the nation's millions of retailers and corporations.

Importance Of Salesmen Today

I'm frank to admit we have, and probably always will have with us, a few get-rich-quick boys who want to make a fast buck. They are high-pressure artists who are here today and gone tomorrow. They never learned that really to sell you have to get close to a prospect, get his confidence and give him real service. But men of this type are also found in Congress, in labor unions, and, yet, even in medicine! So let's not put a blanket condemnation on the entire selling profession.

What my reader did not fully understand is the importance of the salesman to our economy. She did not quite seem to grasp the idea that our country has learned how to produce, not only all the tremendous amount of military material we need, but also all the consumer goods we can use. And that the major fear of business right now is the fear of overproduction. She does not realize that the salesman is the kingpin in our free economy, and that, by creating and satisfying enough new wants, only he and those who sell advertising can keep our economy in high gear. The salesman is a mighty important person.

Job Ceiling Unlimited
Sales work has a special appeal to ambitious young men because earnings are in direct proportion to hard work and ability. The salesman gets a terrific bang out of his job because he knows his efforts cause people to raise their standard-of-living. He knows, too, that if only a thousand people buy an article without salesmanship, it may cost $10, but with good selling and resultant mass production, the consumer may get the same article for as low as $2.

A good, creative salesman has the spirit of the missionary—a lot of courage, honesty, unbounded energy, persistence, firmness and unusual adaptability. The good salesman must be able to withstand extreme frustration, be able to organize his own work and work under pressure. The good salesman is not a clock watcher. He always wishes the work day were just a little longer.

Make Good Incomes
Whether a young fellow starts out as a manufacturer's representative, wholesale salesman, specialty salesman, sales engineer or retail merchandiser, his opportunities are what he makes them. If he's a good salesman he will want to work on commission. Then it's strictly up to him whether he makes $25 or $250 per week.

Starting guarantees for college seniors wanting to sell range from about $2,730 to $3,600. The average, after five years, is about $8,000; the average ceiling in sales management ranges between $12,000-$15,000 in medium-sized corporations, with some earnings going much higher. Salesmen are the one group who need no labor unions. They are the men who work up to the top executive positions. As I look ahead 10 years, the way for a young person to get ahead fastest, and at the same time make a real contribution to our economy, is to enter the sales field. To succeed, he has to have the interest, aptitude, persistence and personal qualifications.

The Border Incidents

WASHINGTON
The most likely explanation for the rash of shooting incidents on the Soviet air borders lies in a significant moment of the recent past.

It was the time after the Inchon victory, when Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur had given President Truman what amounted to a promise that the Chinese Communists would not intervene in Korea. Every outward appearance supported Gen. MacArthur's conviction.

In July and August, a couple of Chinese divisions would have been enough to tip the balance against our own hard-pressed forces. If they had intervened then, the UN armies might have been thrown out of Korea. In early September, a couple of Chinese divisions could have stopped the UN invasion of North Korea. The mere announcement of a "preventive occupation" would have brought a UN verdict against crossing the 38th Parallel.

Gen. MacArthur reasoned that if the Chinese had already thrown away such opportunities, they would not enter the Korean fighting when Pyongyang was in our hands and the North Korean armies had utterly disintegrated. For once, in a way, former Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson agreed with Gen. MacArthur. When the Indian ambassador at Peking, Sardar Panikkar, sent anguished warnings against a drive to the Yalu River, Acheson ridiculed the warnings and their author.

Warning Was Ignored
So far as is known, only three leading American officials argued for the course that now, by hindsight, looks so brilliantly wise—consolidation of our forces on the narrow North Korean "waist," where we would now give our eye-teeth to be. One was former Secretary of the Air Force Thomas Finletter, who merely pointed out that we had won what we had set out to win, and had better be satisfied.

The other two were the chief American experts on the Soviet Union, Charles E. Bohlen and George F. Kennan. Kennan and Bohlen admitted it was logical to think the Chinese would not come in. They said they could not give solid reasons for their view. But they still maintained that the masters of the Kremlin and their satellite leaders had a neurotic sensitivity about their borders. Going to the Yalu, they warned, was getting too close to a sensitive border; therefore a reaction must be expected.

Bohlen's and Kennan's warning was ignored, with tragic consequences. Had the warning been heeded, the very same senators who are now attacking Kennan and Bohlen as bad judges of Soviet behavior, would have frothed with indignation because "MacArthur's victory had been thrown away." Nothing less than the conquest of all of Korea was to be tolerated for an instant, according to the isolationist-extremists in that period. In those days, treason would have been described in any order to stop our forces at the Korean waist.

It is amusing to reflect on past history in this manner, since several of the same isolationist-extremists have more recently urged a straight policy of scuttle-and-run in Korea. But the incident is not merely entertaining; it is also meaningful.

Fear Air Attack
Air attack is what the Soviets fear today (as it is what we shall have to fear before long). The death of Stalin, the strain of the change of government, has undoubtedly given the Kremlin a severe case of nerves. What could be more natural then, than for the Kremlin to order the most stringent patrols of the air borders, and to command that any seeming trespassers be attacked on sight?

This may be, this could be, the entire explanation of the air combats of the last 10 days. Another seemingly unrelated set of facts can be interpreted to support this view.

In brief, the elevation of Marshal Zhukov was one of the notable features of the new Soviet government. Malenkov is reputed to dislike Zhukov, on fairly good evidence; yet Zhukov is deputy minister of Defense. The usual theory is that this indicates deference to the Red Army. But the Red Army is not alone in liking Zhukov. President Eisenhower singled out the Soviet marshal for very special friendly praise in his war memoirs. He even repeated this praise in the campaign. Can Eisenhower's feelings have been considered in the Kremlin?

Then too, there is the fact that until now, President Eisenhower has not been singled out for the sort of vilification that used to be heaped on President Truman by the Soviet press. There is the further fact that Malenkov, in his recent speech, left out the customary passages about "American assassins," and instead declared his desire to talk peace with everybody, "including the Americans."

In short, the Soviets may indeed be planning something ugly for tomorrow morning, as the shooting incidents suggest. But by no means do all the signs point in that direction. Such is the kind of mystery commonly encountered when Soviet intentions are explored.

The Civil Service

The theory of the Civil Service is that employees of the Government of the United States, not on the policy-making level, could be taken out of politics and put on a permanent basis of employment and advancement without dependence on political preference. Each candidate for such a position is required to take a written examination; he is required to satisfy the Civil Service Commission as to his character and loyalty and general suitability for the particular post.

President Truman perverted the Civil Service system by covering large numbers of deserving Democrats by Civil Service benefits who have not taken the necessary examinations and whose virtues have not been duly determined by fitting investigation. They were folded into the Civil Service by executive order. It would seem fitting and proper that all such might immediately be thrown out by the Eisenhower administration, not only with the object of making room for deserving Republicans but also to reduce the unbearable payroll of the federal government.

There ought to be no problem about that, as General Eisenhower himself said that government is not a right but privilege. Some Democrats and many left-wingers regard a government job as a human right and they hop from one public office to another with amazing agility, managing to hold on to some bit of the payroll despite exposure of their defects. The United States would suffer no loss if they were sent forth to work at earning a living instead of just getting one. Some of them get jobs in the United Nations or the Ford Foundation.

The Eisenhower administration has been too gentle in the matter of ridding the country of an unnecessary officialdom, although, for nearly 20 years, the Republicans have made a tremendous noise about the size of government employment, which now reaches the unbelievable figure of where two of them can be carried under the wings of an F-84.

Only trouble with these small A-bombs is that when Russia develops the same size bomb, as eventually must happen, it could be smuggled into the United States in a suitcase or in a packing box in the hold of a ship. Thus it could be detonated from a pier alongside the New York waterfront, or from a baggage locker in Grand Central Station. Or a ship passing through the Panama Canal could be blown up inside the locks and jam that vital waterway for months.

2,500,000. Anyone who has ever tried to be serviced in a government office has had a wonderful experience in slow motion, with the hired help getting in each other's way for want of something to do.

The huge government payroll started as a relief measure during the depression years, the theory being that made-work justified itself in hard times. The jobs were developed to make work, and even if a typist devoted herself to writing letters to prospective or imaginary boy friends, it was considered better than a dole.

Also, under the New Deal, a system of grading developed by which the importance of an official was measured in terms of the number of persons under him. Thus a smart public servant permitted his department to grow big so that he would look important. This device was so usual that it was given a special name, "empire-building."

Thus, federal employment rose from a slight 615,000 in 1932 to about 2,500,000 today. Mr. Roosevelt was never as expansive in peace years as Mr. Truman, his highest figure being 1,424,000 for 1941. Of course, in the war years employment went well over 3,000,000. High federal employment during a war period is to be expected, and it was hoped that Mr. Truman would bring it down to Mr. Roosevelt's figure, which was still high. However, Mr. Truman, being an amiable gentleman, kindly and respecting the welfare of deserving Democrats, not only kept the federal payroll high, but folded many into the Civil Service without requiring them to take the usual examinations to prove their fitness. Those who did take examinations should have whatever protection the Civil Service law provides, if their jobs are necessary at all. If the jobs are unnecessary, they should be abolished. The United States ought not to be an eleemosynary institution.

The President has appointed a commission to adjust the Hoover reports to the needs of the Eisenhower administration. A thorough going plan to reorganize the executive branch of the government could reduce the payroll. They could also plan to get a dollar's work for a dollar of pay. This may be a revolutionary doctrine but not an evil one. There is no reason why a government job should produce lazier workers than private enterprise. And workers always work better if they fear the prospect of dismissal. It is a wonderful cure for those who believe that tenure on a job saves one from the necessity to work.

Tax Cuts For More Revenue

Advocates of an immediate reduction in United States income tax rates are making much of widely reported tax reductions in other democratic nations. "We put $2 billion into Italy and she has just reduced her taxes so she can get more revenue," Chairman Reed (R., N. Y.) of the House Ways and Means Committee declared on March 12. "That seems to be a paradox some people cannot understand. France reduced her taxes and, she said, not only to bring tax relief and get more revenues but to create honesty among her people." Reed is sponsor of a bill ending as of July 1, 1953, when the corporation excess profits tax is due to expire, the 1951 boost of 11 per cent in the personal income tax rates.

The proposed reduction of French income taxes is to be accompanied by an accelerated system of tax collection. The government expresses the hope of collecting three years' taxes in two years. Employers would be required to withhold income taxes weekly. A government statement avers that at present "too many taxpayers use the excuse of too high a tax rate to evade their fiscal duty."

France has been making strenuous efforts to reduce tax evasion since 1948. It has consolidated all of its tax agencies under a single administration and has sent collectors to the United States to study American methods. Penalties for evasion have been increased.

Current individual income tax rates in France begin at 10 per cent for those earning more than $500 a year. On incomes of more than $17,000 a year the rate is 60 per cent.

But France collects 75 per cent of its total central government tax revenues in indirect taxes. In the United States only about 16 per cent of federal tax revenues comes from indirect levies.

The total tax burden in the United States amounts to 25.8 per cent of the gross national product. The corresponding ratio for France is 30.7 per cent. The ratio of taxes to gross national product is lower in the United States than in the United Kingdom (35 per cent), West Germany, Austria, the Netherlands, Belgium. But the ratio is higher in the United States than in Norway, Italy, Denmark, Greece, Turkey, Portugal.

The new Canadian budget calls for a reduction of 11 per cent in personal income taxes beginning July 1, 1953. Canadian income tax rates will thereby return to levels that obtained prior to the outbreak of hostilities in Korea. But Canada continues to exact a higher proportion of the gross national product in taxes than does the United States, much of the difference being made up in a 10 per cent general sales tax and a 15 per cent excises tax.

Despite the generally lower income tax rate in Canada, the new budget is expected to produce a surplus estimated at $11 million in the next fiscal year. Canada spends about 10.5 per cent of its national income on defense and mutual aid. Corresponding programs use up about 17 per cent of U. S. national income.

Paris In The Spring

Among other harbingers of you-know-what arriving at editorial desks lately is an intriguing little news letter called the Paris International Trade Fair Bulletin. The fair, which the editors say is the "shop window of the world," will be held May 9 to 25. There will be 11,000 exhibitors scattered over a 125-acre plot, and 3,000,000 visitors are expected.

This little news letter is, to say the least, intriguing. It is sort of a shop window in its own right. In the general interest category is the news that the Eiffel Tower is about to get a new coat of paint, and that the project will take until 1955.

When complete, this landmark will be a high visibility yellow at the top, a beige color in its middle, and "nut brown" at the bottom.

British investors are told that under a novel guarantee plan shareholders in the French utility Electricite de France cannot receive less than a 4.5 per cent return. If the cost of current goes up with the cost of living, interest value rises in proportion. It seems there is a free one-day tour around Paris, "ending with an evening at a Paris theater," for those telling a good anecdote about this most beautiful of all cities.

Little bit of everything, you see, plus a strong pull to entice those with weak resistance to dash over there and walk under the candelabra of chestnut blossoms and across the Seine bridges. The man who put this together shouldn't be permitted to run loose. He's too much of a Pied Piper.

Fast Footwork

Russians, it now appears, are the fastest people in the world on their feet. Real agile, that is. Dispatches from Moscow during the late sorrow, when even the UN flag in New York drooped at half staff, placed the number of the grieving which passed Stalin's coffin in a 48-hour period at 5,000,000. The figure had an unrealistic appearance, but most persons passed it off as merely slight exaggeration by a race that is noted for specialization in champion size lies.

But an accountant in Oklahoma who is genuinely adept at figures grabbed his pencil and came up with an interesting result.

If the Muscovites had dashed past Stalin's coffin, three abreast, at the rate of 22 miles an hour, fewer than 5,000,000 would have obtained a fleeting glimpse of the departed in 48 hours. Probably the characters in the Kremlin thought that the interment of the world's biggest liar rated a colossal whopper in his honor.

The Gardening Kick

It has been estimated that 30,000,000 Americans engage in varying degree in the fine old sport of gardening. The reasons for indulging are apparently as varied as the people who do the job.

The manager of a store that has everything for the gardener puts it this way: Everybody is on a gardening kick. Meaning, presumably, that everyone has succumbed to a mania which is only soothed by buying an assortment of implements to dig up the ground with and stuff to put in it.

This man says he gets all sorts of comments. Some people say they go in for gardening because flowers cannot talk back to them. Others like the sights and scents—the esthetic approach. Others grow vegetables until they come out of their ears and the whole family is driven to distraction some late summer weekend trying to can and freeze the crop before it goes to waste.

Remembering And Forgetting

Most of us would give an eye-tooth to possess a good memory. Unfortunately, only a few have acquired the facility through natural endowment. The remainder of us have found that memory, like money, does not grow on trees; we must work hard to obtain it.

We all know of persons with amazing memories for particular items. A woman of my acquaintance is a wizard on telephone numbers, whereas another is an authority on the meaning of words. Almost every community boasts of a man or boy who can name all the baseball players and their averages since the days of Ty Cobb. There also is a limerick specialist who is able to amuse his friends for hours with "The Lady Named Grace" or "The Thin Man from Boston." These incredible feats are not always related to intelligence; some of the "dumbest" people are able to recall the darndest things.

Many of our most successful people do not have excellent memories. They have learned to select what they should remember and do not waste their time or clutter their minds with nonessential details. These men and women know where to locate information when it is needed. The chief advantage of this type of memory is its practicability. This is in contrast to the absent minded professor who is brilliant according to intelligence tests and knows his field backward and forward but has a difficult time getting along in the world once he leaves his classroom, laboratory, or study.

Can memory be improved? Yes; but the individual must discover the medium through which he learns best. Is it easier to bring back to mind what has been seen, heard or read? For the majority, sight is the best medium. Most people can remember faces but not names; they recall what has been seen better than what has been heard. The army found that many men who were considered of low intelligence became wizards when taught via visual aids. Apparently as children they had been taught incorrectly; had the teachers used blackboard demonstrations and other visual aids these boys might have retained most of the material to which they were exposed. Other youngsters learn better by ear and have found it more expedient to read aloud.

Memory can be improved by making more use of the sense with which we remember best. It is advisable not to neglect the other senses, however, because combinations often leave a more lasting impression. Studies have shown that we tend to forget the unpleasant things in life, which may explain why we neglect to pay bills, clean the basement, or darn the socks. In contrast, the umbrella is conveniently left at the home of a friend because unconsciously we want an excuse to return.

A good memory is not always to our advantage; occasionally it plays tricks. Most of us have had the experience of recalling something that happened, say five years ago. The conviction is so strong we are willing to bet our last dollar. When subsequent event prove us wrong we cannot understand because our memory of the event is so clear. Memory also is affected by the emotional system and it is easier to remember incidents that hold our interest.

INFANT HAS ECZEMA

Mrs. L. writes: My baby has eczema on the face and a neighbor told me I should not use water on the outbreak. Is this true?

Reply: In some instances, yes. In others, water softened with bran or oatmeal is better. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on eczema.

NOSEBLEED

D. W. writes: What is the most common cause of nosebleed in children?

Reply: Injury owing to falls, picking, or blowing the nose too violently. Infection is the next most common.

ALKALINE URINE

D. E. writes: Is an alkaline urine serious?

Reply: No. It may be an indication that you are taking too much baking soda or other alkali.

SUGAR WON'T CAUSE

T. Y. writes: Will using two spoonfuls of sugar in every cup of coffee cause diabetes?

Reply: No. Diabetes is caused by a disturbance of the pancreas but the erroneous belief still continues that the disorder is caused by eating too much sugar. A high percentage of individuals who develop the disease were obese prior to its detection because they ate too much food, including sugars.

VITILIGO

C. V. writes: Are white spots on the skin a sign of worms?

Reply: The answer to this old wives' tale No. 3,426 is no. We do not know the cause of patchy loss of pigmentation but most victims cover the spots with cosmetics to make them less noticeable.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Top Republicans Clash Over Capitol Hill Cocktails; Ike Guides Tourists Too Far Afield; Defense Chief Wilson Working Hard Against Odds

WASHINGTON—It has just bubbled to the surface, but two top Republicans got into a bitter, backstage wrangle last week over "hard liquor" being served in the Capitol Building. They were Congressmen John Saylor of Pennsylvania, who wanted to throw a "buffet supper" for his mother, and A. L. "Doc" Miller of Nebraska who called it a "cocktail party" and stopped it on the excuse that highballs would be served.

What caused the ruckus was Saylor's plan to use the House Interior Committee room for his get-together. As a subcommittee of this committee, Saylor made all the arrangements at his own expense and sent out invitations to committee members.

Among those invited was the committee's crotchety chairman, "Doc" Miller, who has been conducting a running feud with his fellow Republican subcommittee member. Miller promptly tattled to House Speaker Joe Martin about the cocktail party, then wrote Saylor an amazing letter threatening to "expose" him.

Miller's letter was never meant to be published. However, here is what he wrote: "I have your invitation to attend a 'little party' in the committee room . . . on March 19th. I want to call your attention to the recent conversation between us . . . When you asked if you could have the use of the committee room for a party, I said in effect that if hard liquor was to be served, I would not give that consent or be responsible for such a party. You replied in effect, 'Doc, what is a party without a highball?'"

"No Cocktail" Miller
"I have talked today with the speaker and Mr. Jim Acheson (in charge of the House office buildings), and they tell me I have control and am responsible for the committee room," Miller continued triumphantly. "I know they agree with me that the committee room should not be used for so-called cocktail parties . . ."

"I am assuming you are using the room for a social get-together minus hard liquor," the letter went on. "If such is not the case, you do not have my permission to use the committee room. If the room is used in violation of this letter, I would expect to take the case to the floor of the House for an airing. The resulting publicity could cut two ways."

Ike's Tour
A little incident which happens in the home of almost every married couple—even Presidential couples—happened in the White House recently.

The President was conducting a group of congressmen through the White House and took them off the customary tour to give them a special look at his own personal quarters upstairs.

These consist of a sitting room, with a couple of bedrooms attached. Ike, who gets along with the Democrats almost better than with the Republicans, took the group up to the door of the sitting room and started in.

Suddenly there was a feminine shriek. Inside was Mamie in a black negligee. The startled First Lady rushed into the bedroom. Ike grinned, and decided he'd better stick to the routine sight-seeing tour of his new home in the future.

Perspiring Defense Boss
The man who is getting the most backstage brickbats in Washington but probably deserves the most sympathy is ex-General Motors boss Charles E. Wilson, perspiring, persevering secretary of Defense.

Starting out with two big strikes against him, the opposition of Congress and part of the public, Wilson now has another strike against him—the opposition of the brass hats. But he probably deserves the support of Congress and the public as of today.

When he stepped into the Defense Department, Wilson found things just about as bad as indicated by some of the newspaper headlines on the ammunition shortage. His predecessor, sincere, hard-working Wall Street banker Robert Lovett, long had coasted on the theory that the military could run the show.

When branches of the services were at odds with each other, Lovett compromised. When the Joint Chiefs of Staff voted against a second super airplane carrier, Lovett announced that they had OK'd the carrier and asked Congress to appropriate the money.

When it was revealed by this column and Congress that millions of dollars were being wasted by duplicate buying between the Army, Navy, and Air Force, Lovett waited three months before issuing an order to iron out this duplication.

These were some of the things Wilson discovered when he stepped into the Defense Department. He also found that the much vaunted unification program was not working. Many brass hats have simply given up any idea of harmony. On top of this, the tank production program has been partially fouled up, the production of Sabrejets could be a lot better, and other procurement problems have been scattered all over the Pentagon.

Wilson has been working at his new job night and day. He's a forthright, honest individual who chafes at red tape and delay. It's still too early to say whether he'll lick the job or it will lick him. But there's no question that he's working hard for the best interests of the public.

SS. Peter-Paul To Hold Easter Midnight Mass

SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church will celebrate an Easter Eve midnight mass this year for the first time.

Rev. Louis Glantz, OFM Cap., pastor, said the restored Easter Vigil will be observed in accordance with the recent Decree of the Sacred Congregation of Rites.

The decree has altered somewhat the ancient ritual so as to allow a more complete participation in regards to the laity. Father Louis added. The ritual is divided into three parts, the Light, Baptismal and Eucharistic services.

Devotions will begin at 10:30 p. m. Saturday from the blessing of the new fire from which the Easter candle and all other candles used in the ritual are lighted. An impressive ceremony will mark the blessing of the Easter candle, symbolizing the Risen Christ.

The deacon will chant the "Exultet" while the congregation holds lighted candles.

The second part of the ritual will commence with the chanting of four prophecies, readings from the Old Testament which foreshadowed baptism. Next will come the chanting of the Litany and All Saints, interrupted by the blessing of the Easter water and baptismal water.

Father Louis said the blessing concludes with parishioners renewing their baptismal vows, after which the litany is finished.

The third and final part of the services starts with the celebration of midnight mass during which the church bells are rung to herald the joyous Easter festival.

The entire ritual will end with the chanting of Lauds, which on Easter Sunday is added to the mass, and the final blessing by the priest.

Concert Planned By Alchoi Groups

The Boys Quartet, Musettes and the Octet of Allegany High School will present a vocal concert for the public at 8:15 p. m. Friday in the auditorium of the school. The event will mark the silver anniversary of the program and will be under the direction of Miss Dorothy Willison and Morris O'Neill.

The concert will open with "The Easter Story," and will include the following selections:

"The Palms," "The Holy City," "Agnus Dei," "O, Bread of Life," "Were You There," "All in the April Evening" and "Easter Morning." This part of the program will be directed by Miss Willison.

O'Neill will direct "All in the Golden Afternoon," "Those Hours With You," with Carolyn Deck as soloist; "Crawdad Song," "I Got Shoes," "A Rockin' All Night" and "Tell Me Why." The concluding part of the program, directed by Miss Willison, will feature "Beautiful Dreamer," "Some Enchanted Evening," "Go, Song of Mine," "Donkey Serenade," "The Cry of the Wild Goose," "At Parting," "Younger Than Springtime" and "Ride the Chariot."

Accompanists for the program will include Dean Hancox, Marie Goldsworthy, Nancy Long, Robert Mann, Marilyn Kreider and Jane Platt.

How does the money people put into Life Insurance benefit all of us?

It actively works for the policyholder and the community

Most important of all, this money provides protection to policyholders and their families—but beyond that what does it do for all of us?

Look around you!

The houses we live in, the cars we drive, the telephones we use, the electricity that lights our homes, the food we eat, the clothing we wear, all of the things that so vitally affect our lives every day are probably financed by life insurance funds in some way.

Invested in every part of the country, this money touches practically every phase of American life.

It helps provide the capital necessary to build America.

It helps finance businesses, both large and small.

All of this adds up to more jobs and more goods for more and more people.

Furthermore, the earnings on these invested funds help keep down the cost of life insurance to the policyholder.

So, you see, your life insurance dollars benefit you and your family, your community, and the country as a whole.

How does the money people put into Life Insurance benefit all of us?

It actively works for the policyholder — and the community

Most important of all, this money provides protection to policyholders and their families—but beyond that what does it do for all of us?

Look around you!

The houses we live in, the cars we drive, the telephones we use, the electricity that lights our homes, the food we eat, the clothing we wear, all of the things that so vitally affect our lives every day are probably financed by life insurance funds in some way.

Invested in every part of the country, this money touches practically every phase of American life.

It helps provide the capital necessary to build America.

It helps finance businesses, both large and small.

All of this adds up to more jobs and more goods for more and more people.

Furthermore, the earnings on these invested funds help keep down the cost of life insurance to the policyholder.

So, you see, your life insurance dollars benefit you and your family, your community, and the country as a whole.

Godfrey Is Named Marshal For Apple Blossom Festival

WINCHESTER, Va. — Arthur Godfrey, radio's most listened to personality, has been named as grand marshal of the feature parade of the 26th Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival, which will be held here in the Apple Capital at 2 p. m., Friday, May 1.

Godfrey, a native of New York, is on the air for nine hours every week, and is known practically the world over. He began in radio in 1929, while still in the coast guard, and later in Baltimore and Washington, he evolved the personalized broadcasting that has made him famous.

The versatile red-headed favorite of radio and television is a man of many hobbies. He is a farmer — his home is on an 800 acre farm atop Catocin Mountain in nearby Loudoun County — an aviator, yachtsman, and musician. He is also a U. S. Naval Reservist.

Upwards of 200,000 persons are expected to greet Godfrey when he rides at the head of the festival's three hour long feature parade. The little apple city is preparing for the biggest day in its life on May 1, which has been designated in Winchester as "Arthur Godfrey Day."

Godfrey, as grand marshal, will ride along the Trail of the Pink Petals which has previously been trod by such celebrities as Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Van Johnson and Howard Keel.

Kiwanians Hold Ladies Night

KEYSER — The regular spring Ladies Night of Keyser Kiwanis Club was held Wednesday, with the Circle K Club, of Potomac State School, and their ladies, guests of the local club. Business session was set aside entirely and entertainment was the crux of the program.

Tucker County Education Board Holds Meeting

Two New Members Approved In Opinion

PARSONS — Two new members of the Tucker County Board of Education are eligible to hold offices according to an opinion issued by the Attorney General's office, Charleston.

The two men, Dr. Tracy A. Currey, Thomas, member of the local Selective Service Board, and Dr. Guy H. Michael, Sr., county health officer and medical examiner for the draft board, were appointed recently to the Board of Education.

Dr. Currey was appointed to fill the term of James T. Schoonover Jr., and Dr. Michael assumed his duties in January.

The opinion was read at a board meeting held Tuesday evening in Parsons. A letter was also read from the A. E. Mastern Company of Wheeling which said it is proceeding to draft an offering circular in regard to the Parsons athletic field lighting project.

Felix Colabrese, assistant county superintendent of schools reported to the board a request of the band and Glee club of Parsons High School for transportation to the Salem College on March 25 where they will present a concert, and also from the Thomas-Davis band and the Parsons band for transportation to the Band Festival to be held in Morgantown on April 18. The board authorized Colabrese to work out the problem of transportation for the two affairs.

The three floors in the superintendent's office have been refurnished during the past week and the Home Economics room of Thomas High School has been refurnished and repaired with a part of the cost to be paid by the Home Economics room and the school.

Paul Byrne and Leo Nolan have been nominated for sergeant-at-arms; and Melvin Morton, Earl Smith and Alexander Gardner for trustees.

Godfrey Is Named Marshal For Apple Blossom Festival

WINCHESTER, Va. — Arthur Godfrey, radio's most listened to personality, has been named as grand marshal of the feature parade of the 26th Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival, which will be held here in the Apple Capital at 2 p. m., Friday, May 1.

Godfrey, a native of New York, is on the air for nine hours every week, and is known practically the world over. He began in radio in 1929, while still in the coast guard, and later in Baltimore and Washington, he evolved the personalized broadcasting that has made him famous.

The versatile red-headed favorite of radio and television is a man of many hobbies. He is a farmer — his home is on an 800 acre farm atop Catocin Mountain in nearby Loudoun County — an aviator, yachtsman, and musician. He is also a U. S. Naval Reservist.

Upwards of 200,000 persons are expected to greet Godfrey when he rides at the head of the festival's three hour long feature parade. The little apple city is preparing for the biggest day in its life on May 1, which has been designated in Winchester as "Arthur Godfrey Day."

Godfrey, as grand marshal, will ride along the Trail of the Pink Petals which has previously been trod by such celebrities as Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Van Johnson and Howard Keel.

Tucker County Education Board Holds Meeting

Two New Members Approved In Opinion

PARSONS — Two new members of the Tucker County Board of Education are eligible to hold office according to an opinion issued by the Attorney General's office, Charleston.

The two men, Dr. Tracy A. Curry, Thomas, member of the local Selective Service Board, and Dr. Guy H. Michael, Sr., county health officer and medical examiner for the draft board, were appointed recently to the Board of Education.

Dr. Curry was appointed to fill the term of James T. Schoonover Jr., and Dr. Michael assumed his duties in January.

The opinion was read at a board meeting held Tuesday evening in Parsons. A letter was also read from the A. E. Mastern Company of Wheeling which said it is proceeding to draft an offering circular in regard to the Parsons athletic field lighting project.

Felix Colabrese, assistant county superintendent of schools reported to the board a request of the band and Glee club of Parsons High School for transportation to the Salem College on March 25 where they will present a concert, and also from the Thomas-Davis band and the Parsons band for transportation to the Band Festival to be held in Morgantown on April 18. The board authorized Colabrese to work out the problem of transportation for the two affairs.

The three floors in the superintendent's office have been refurnished during the past week and the Home Economics room of Thomas High School has been refurnished and repaired with a part of the cost to be paid by the Home Economics room and the school.

Piedmont Loop Opens Apr. 23

York And Hagerstown To Play In Hub City

STAUNTON, Va., March 22 (AP)—The Class B Piedmont League has released a 140-game schedule for the 1953 season which starts April 23 and closes with Labor Day doubleheaders Sept. 7.

Opening-day contests in the Piedmont, newly expanded to eight teams, find the two new members—Hagerstown, Md., and York, Pa.—colliding at Hagerstown; Lynchburg at Roanoke; Richmond at Newport News, and Norfolk at Portsmouth.

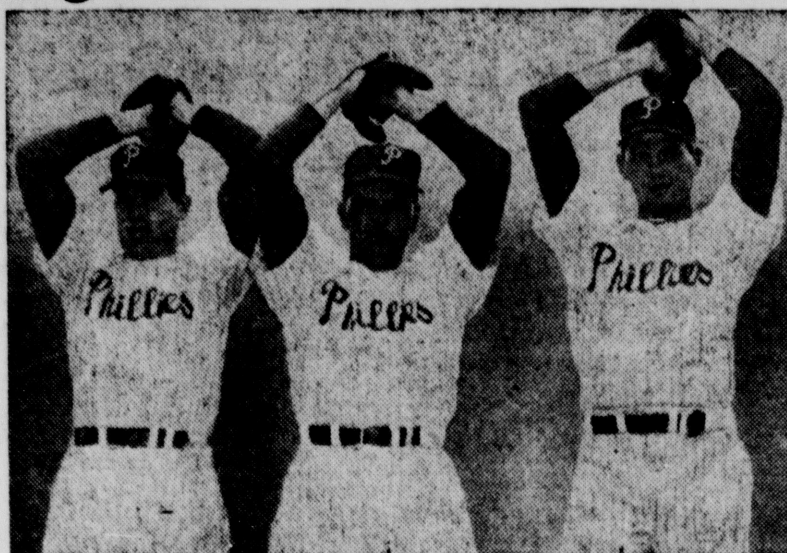

On the season's second day, Roanoke is at Lynchburg, Portsmouth at Norfolk, and Newport News at Richmond. York remains at Hagerstown but opens its home season the next night, April 25, against the same foe.

The annual Piedmont All-Star game, pitting the league leader against an all-star team composed of the top players of the other seven squads, is scheduled for July 13 at the home park of the team then plying the circuit.

Norfolk's Tars, a farm club of the New York Yankees, won the Piedmont flag last year. Richmond's Colts were a surprise winner in the post-season Shaughnessy playoffs.

Hagerstown and York were admitted to the league last month when the Class B Interstate League was unable to reorganize.

can win 20 or more games. I'd like to have Ridzik as my fourth starter but the job is still open."

STEVE CONTINUES: "Jim Konstanty could be a starter. And Kent Peterson, former Redleg hurler who was with Tulsa and Baltimore last year, has looked good all spring.

"Among the newcomers, I'd say that Paul Stufel might help if he can gain better control. Then we have Bob Miller and Howie Fox. Maybe one of them will win a starter's job."

Konstanty has been used mostly in relief. Stufel has a spectacular strikeout record in the minors and won 11 for Baltimore last season. Andy Hansen and Ken Heintzelman will do the relief work with Peterson also available for that chore.

The Phils' catching is solid, with Forrest Burgess, Stan Lopata and Ken Sylvestri on board. Burgess did a fine job last year, catching 110 games and hitting .296. Sylvestri is also used as a coach. A rookie here is Joe Lonnett, who has been in the service. He is from Beaver Falls, Pa.

The infield is a little thin in bench strength but is solid on the front line with Torgeson at first, Granny Hamner at short and Willie Jones at third. At second it is a fight between Jack Lohrke and Connie Ryan with Tommy Glaviano, with the Cards last year, making a bid for the spot.

Eddie Waitkus is still around as the first sacker, too, and he did well last year but doesn't hit the long ball. It is expected a trade might be made for Eddie, who drew front-page notice a couple of years ago when he was shot by a lady fan in Chicago.

The outfield packs plenty of class with Del Ennis, Richie Ashburn and Mel Clark ready to take up where they finished last year. Ennis, the Phils claim, is a better all-around ball player than Ralph Kiner and hit 20 homers last year. Ashburn hit for .282 and Clark, in his first year, batted .335 in 46 games. Then there is Johnny Wyrostek, a regular last year, and Bill Nicholson, who will be used mostly in pinch-hitting roles. A newcomer here is Joe Tesauro, a .311 hitter for Schenectady last season.

Among future hopefuls on this club is Ted Kazinski, a shortstop signed for a while of a bonus reportedly $80,000, two years ago. Ted has been sent out for minor league seasoning.

PHIGURING THE PHILLIES—The Phils are definitely first division and if Torgeson comes through and the pitching is as good or better than in 1952, they could be a top contender. O'Neill is a highly capable pilot.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 22 (INS)—You better take a look at Audrey Hepburn when "Roman Holiday" is released, that is, if you didn't see her on the stage in "Gigi."

Look at her, because you'll see her often. Paramount plans a build up similar to the one given Rosemary Clooney.

Concrete evidence of this is the purchase Don Hartman has just made of "Sabrina Fair," a play Sam Taylor ("Member of the Wedding" playwright) wrote especially for Audrey.

Later, "Sabrina Fair" is intended for Broadway. If you've wondered about the title, let me say it's taken from Milton's "Comus," the story of a water nymph who saves a beautiful girl from a fate worse than death. Pat Duggan has been handed the play, and will produce it in the fall.

Here's good news for everyone who loves Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride in the "Ma and Pa Kettle" series. They're returning in another of these famed comedies to be called "Ma and Pa Kettle Hit the Road Home." Took a lot of persuading because neither Marjorie nor Percy wanted to continue these characters but they are so popular they couldn't very well turn down the popular demand.

My friend Georgie Jessel long distanced from New York that he has signed Helen Traubel, opera singer, to play Mrs. Rip Van Winkle, Jr. opposite Jimmy Durante in "Rip Van Winkle, Jr." This is very good casting since Madame Traubel has been with Jimmy so many times on TV.

Now if George can get Margaret Truman, another good friend of Jimmy's he'll have accomplished quite a casting feat. That shouldn't be too difficult with the way he stands with the Truman family and the way Jimmy stands with Margaret.

At the Academy Awards I sat next to young Robert Jacks and his pretty wife, the former Darrylin Zanuck. I asked Bob what he was doing about "Prince Valiant," and he said that Robert Wagner will play the prince in the King Features comic strip.

Darrylin is expecting another baby, making come true her wish to have a big family. This will be her third child, and what a wonderful mother she is, so sensible for so young a girl.

Bob also told me that Henry Hathaway is directing the "Valiant" epic.

Virginia Mayo, who is very much in love with her husband,

Michael O'Shea, thinks it's very unfair that so much has been made of her giving the first Mrs. O'Shea a check for $5,000 in partial payment of back alimony.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

What's this with Chata (Mrs. John) Wayne and Steve Cochran? They were at Ciro's—Chata done up in white ermine cape. Earlier in the week she was at a dinner at his house.

One of the first witnesses called tomorrow before the House Un-American Activities Committee is expected to be Danny Dare, former Paramount producer.

In New York Bill Dozier has been beaming Diana Lynn around town.

Anna Magnani arrives in New York April 11 to exploit her latest picture "Dellisma." Anna preceded Ingrid Bergman in Rossellini's affections.

And Ingrid has reservations at the Carlyle House in New York for the month of June. She's coming to see her daughter, Jenny Ann Lindstrom.

The night spots were booming after the Academy Awards. RCA gave a big party at Romanoff's for those who appeared on the TV show.

In the outside dining room were the Herbert Kalmuses having supper with Dorothy and Merian Cooper. Both Herb and Merian received awards.

At the Mocambo the younger set was much in evidence, with Piper Laurie with Carlos Thompson, Tab Hunter and Gloria Gordon (she's Leon's daughter), Mel Torme sang

Piedmont Loop Opens Apr. 23

York And Hagerstown To Play In Hub City

STAUNTON, Va., March 22 (AP)—The Class B Piedmont League has released a 140-game schedule for the 1953 season which starts April 23 and closes with Labor Day doubleheaders Sept. 7.

Opening-day contests in the Piedmont, newly expanded to eight teams, find the two new members—Hagerstown, Md., and York, Pa.—colliding at Hagerstown; Lynchburg at Roanoke; Richmond at Newport News, and Norfolk at Portsmouth.

On the season's second day, Roanoke is at Lynchburg, Portsmouth at Norfolk, and Newport News at Richmond. York remains at Hagerstown but opens its home season the next night, April 25, against the same foe.

The annual Piedmont All-Star game, pitting the league leader against an all-star team composed of the top players of the other seven squads, is scheduled for July 13 at the home park of the team then plying the circuit.

Norfolk's Tars, a farm club of the New York Yankees, won the Piedmont flag last year. Richmond's Colts were a surprise winner in the post-season Shaughnessy playoffs.

Hagerstown and York were admitted to the league last month when the Class B Interstate League was unable to reorganize.

Cards' Rookie Spiked

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Grant Dunlap, St. Louis Cardinal rookie first baseman, was spiked on the right foot today as the Redbirds dropped their 12th game of the spring training season—this one to the Milwaukee Braves 5-1.

Five stitches were required to close the wound on the inside of Dunlap's instep.

The Cardinals were held to five hits and shut out until the ninth inning.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 22 (INS)—You better take a look at Audrey Hepburn when "Roman Holiday" is released, that is, if you didn't see her on the stage in "Gigi." Look at her, because you'll see her often. Paramount plans a build up similar to the one given Rosemary Clooney.

Concrete evidence of this is the purchase Don Hartman has just made of "Sabrina Fair," a play Sam Taylor ("Member of the Wedding" playwright) wrote especially for Audrey.

Later, "Sabrina Fair" is intended for Broadway. If you've wondered about the title, let me say it's taken from Milton's "Comus," the story of a water nymph who saves a beautiful girl from a fate worse than death. Pat Duggan has been handed the play, and will produce it in the fall.

Here's good news for everyone who loves Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride in the "Ma and Pa Kettle" series. They're returning in another of these famed comedies to be called "Ma and Pa Kettle Hit the Road Home." Took a lot of persuading because neither Marjorie nor Percy wanted to continue these characters but they are so popular they couldn't very well turn down the popular demand.

My friend George Jessel long distanced from New York that he has signed Helen Traubel, opera singer, to play Mrs. Rip Van Winkle, Jr. opposite Jimmy Durante in "Rip Van Winkle, Jr." This is very good casting since Madame Traubel has been with Jimmy so many times on TV.

Now if George can get Margaret Truman, another good friend of Jimmy's he'll have accomplished quite a casting feat. That shouldn't be too difficult with the way he stands with the Truman family and the way Jimmy stands with Margaret.

At the Academy Awards I sat next to young Robert Jacks and his pretty wife, the former Darryl Zanuck. I asked Bob what he was doing about "Prince Valiant," and he said that Robert Wagner will play the prince in the King Features comic strip.

Darryl is expecting another baby, making come true her wish to have a big family. This will be her third child, and what a wonderful mother she is, so sensible for so young a girl.

Bob also told me that Henry Hathaway is directing the "Valiant" epic.

Virginia Mayo, who is very much in love with her husband.

Michael O'Shea, thinks it's very unfair that so much has been made of her giving the first Mrs. O'Shea a check for $5,000 in partial payment of back alimony.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

What's this with Chata (Mrs. John) Wayne and Steve Cochran? They were at Ciro's—Chata done up in white ermine cape. Earlier in the week she was at a dinner at his house.

One of the first witnesses called tomorrow before the House Un-American Activities Committee is expected to be Danny Dare, former Paramount producer.

In New York Bill Dozier has been beaming Diana Lynn around town.

Anna Magnani arrives in New York April 11 to exploit her latest picture "Dellissima." Anna preceded Ingrid Bergman in Rossellini's affections.

And Ingrid has reservations at the Carlyle House in New York for the month of June. She's coming to see her daughter, Jenny Ann Lindstrom.

The night spots were booming after the Academy Awards. RCA gave a big party at Romanoff's for those who appeared on the TV show.

In the outside dining room were the Herbert Kalmuses having supper with Dorothy and Merian Cooper. Both Herb and Merian received awards.

At the Mocambo the younger set was much in evidence, with Piper Laurie with Carlos Thompson, Tab Hunter and Gloria Gordon (she's Leon's daughter). Mel Torme sang.

Jackie Robinson Denies Reports Of Racial Tension

Says Gilliam On 2nd Will Strengthen Club

By JACK HAND
MIAMI, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Jackie Robinson spoke today about his shift from second to third base, denying reports of racial tension and dissension on the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"What's good for the Dodgers is good for Robinson," he commented. "If the kid (Junior Gilliam) can hit .275, I think our club will be stronger with him on second base. He can get balls that I can't reach any more—maybe two or three years ago but no more. After all, I've only got a couple years left. If I have to move, I'd rather play third than first."

As for racial trouble on the Dodgers, Robinson had this to say: "If we have racial trouble on our ball club, then the rest of the country should have the same thing. It just isn't so. Not with the kind of fellows we have on this team."

Robinson admits he wasn't too happy about shifting off second base to let Gilliam, a Negro rookie up from Montreal, take over his job.

"I read about it down in Puerto Rico," said Robinson. "I told my wife this means I probably would go to third base. She said she hoped not. She said they would compare me with Billy Cox all the time—everytime a ball got past they would say 'Cox would have had it.'"

"It all boils down to one thing, Charlie (Manager Charlie Dressen) didn't want to let Cox."

Dressen still hasn't told Cox what he told reporters at the Vero Beach, Fla., camp several weeks ago—that Cox would be asked to give up third base for a utility job in '53. Cox was the best third baseman in the league and a World Series star last year.

Seniors To Vie May 9, Juniors May 20; Two New Entries Listed

Frostburg has been selected as the site for the Allegany county senior and junior high school track and field meets to be held during the month of May, it was announced last night by Arthur G. Ramey, director of athletics for the county public high schools.

The invitation to the schools to hold both the senior and junior meets at the new Beall High Field was extended at a meeting of the coaches Saturday at the office of the Allegany County Board of Education and was accepted unanimously.

The senior high meet is set for Saturday, May 9, starting at 1 p. m., while the junior high meet will be held Wednesday, May 20, also starting at 1 o'clock.

Shifted From Fort Hill

This will be the first time that the county meet has been held any place except at Fort Hill since the track there was built. The first county meets were held at South End Park. Thereafter the P.A.L. meets were staged for many years on the old Beall High grounds until the meets outgrew the space available. Then the annual events were shifted to the Cumberland Fair Grounds until the Fort Hill track became available. During the Second World War the meets were discontinued.

Beall's new track was constructed last summer. It is a quarter mile cinder track, twenty feet wide, permitting six 36 inch lanes, or possibly seven or eight thirty inch lanes. The 36 inch lanes are more desirable.

Mt. Savage, Central Entered

In addition to the four schools which participated last year, two other schools are entering the picture for 1953. Both the new Mt. Savage school and Central High of Lonaconing will sponsor teams for the two meets. These schools were represented by John Thomas and John Meyers, respectively. Both Thomas and Meyers indicated that the track activities at their schools would be coached by other faculty members then themselves. At Mt. Savage the track coach will be Joseph Carter while at Central Calvin Rankin will handle the track and field aspirants. Both Carter and Rankin are faculty members at their respective schools.

Events for the senior high meet will be the same as those of 1952, viz: 100 yards dash, 220, 440, 880, mile run, 440 yards relay, 880 yards relay and mile relay in track while the field events will be broad jump, high jump, pole vault, discus throw and 12 pound shot put. For all of the individual events each school will be limited to two entrants. One team from each competing school may be entered in a relay race.

To be eligible a boy must not have reached his 19th birthday as of April 1, 1953. Entries must be made to Arthur G. Ramey for the county schools before 9 a. m. Tuesday, May 5.

Coaches of competing schools will meet at Beall High School Wednesday, May 6 to draw places in relays, heats, etc.

The junior high meet for boys in grades 7, 8 and 9 will be run in three classifications: 95 pound class, 115 pound class and junior unlimited class. No boy who has reached his 16th birthday prior to April 1, 1953 will be eligible.

Junior Events Listed

The events are: 95 Pound Class—80 yards dash, 440 yards relay, broad jump and high jump. 115 Pound Class—100 yards dash, 440 yards relay, broad jump and high jump. In both of these classes a boy will be limited to one track event and one field event.

In the junior unlimited class the events will be 100 yards dash, 440 yards relay, 880 yards relay, broad jump, high jump and 8 pound shot put. In this class a contestant may participate in three events, either two track and one field, or two field and one track. However, no boy may be a member of both relay teams. His two track events must be a dash and one relay. Two boys from each school may participate in each of the individual events; one relay team from each school may compete.

Entries will be due in the hands of the county director before 9 a. m. on Monday, May 18, to be followed by a meeting of the coaches at Beall High School Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Duke University's basketball team, which won 18 and lost seven during the recently concluded season, had no seniors. The squad was comprised of five juniors, five sophomores and two freshmen.

Yankees Take 13-11 Slugfest From Reds

TAMPA, Fla., March 22 (AP)—The New York Yankees outslugged the Cincinnati Reds, 13-11, in a batting barrage today, the teams combining for 36 hits and 54 total bases.

Bobby Adams led the Reds' 20-hit attack with four blows and Jim Greengrass slammed three, including a homer.

The champions blasted three Red hurlers for 16 hits, including a home run by Gil McDougald.

The Yankees gained an 8-1 lead for their ace, Vic Raschi, in three innings but the big pitcher blew all of it. He staggered through five innings before calling it a day and was tagged for ten hits. Lefty Bill Miller was pounded for ten more in the last four frames.

Paige And Browns Win

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., March 22 (AP)—A home run by Jim Upright today gave ageless Satchel Paige and the St. Louis Browns a 2-1 exhibition victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Upright's blow came in the fifth after Vic Wertz and Johnny Groth doubled to score the Browns' other run in the fourth inning.

Tribe Bows In 13th

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22 (AP)—An error by Rookie First Baseman Joe Macker led to an unearned run in the 13th inning today and cost the Cleveland Indians a 5-4 loss to the San Francisco Seals.

Macker dropped Al Rosen's throw to first base and Nini Tornay was safe with none out. Pitcher Walter Clough sacrificed and then Shortstop Davey Melton doubled down the left field line, sending across the winning run.

Rosen sent the game into extra innings with a two-run homer in the ninth. It was his first hit in 19 times at bat this spring.

$640,384 Is Bet At Charles Town

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., March 22 — For the second straight Saturday, Charles Town race track's all-time betting record tumbled yesterday as a throng of 10,452 witnessing the nine race card poured $640,384 through the pari-mutuel windows.

The previous Saturday's $634,785 had eclipsed the previous mark of $604,079.

Bi-State Will Not Fold, Four Clubs Post Forfeits

Seek Two More Teams, Meeting Set Tuesday

Reports to the effect that the Bi-State Baseball League was about ready to fold were spiked yesterday when four clubs posted franchise fees at a special meeting in the Loyal Order of Moose Home in Keyser.

Carl "Pete" Dicken, league treasurer, reported that Mt. Savage, Grantsville, McCoolle and Cumberland's Old Germans posted the necessary cash and he added there is a longshot possibility that there may be six teams lined up by the time the campaign gets under way.

Whether the Bi-State will operate with four or six teams definitely will be known when another special meeting is held tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the Queen City Brewing Company.

Spivey Stars As Vagabonds Top Old Gees

Bill Gets 16 Baskets, 35 Points As Locals Drop Final, 90 To 72

Spectacular "Bill" Spivey, 7-foot-center, dumped 35 points into the hoops — 18 in the first half and 17 in the last two periods — to lead the Detroit Vagabond Kings to a 90-72 triumph over Cumberland's Old Germans last night as the locals wound up their campaign on SS. Peter and Paul court before a gathering of 460 paying patrons.

The two-times All-America player who gained fame at the University of Kentucky, proved by far the best basketball player to perform against the Old Gees this season. He controlled both backboards, excelled with his rebounds play, handled the ball as though it were a baseball and scored 16 field goals on a variety of shots, and tips. Spivey probably was the tallest player seen in action here since "Tiny" Gill, 7-foot-4 cager appeared with the Cleveland Favorite Knights about 20 years ago.

Atkins, Magula Help

Assisting the 265-pound giant in routing the locals were Doug Atkins, 6-foot-7 All-America football player from the University of Tennessee, who chipped in with nine goals and 18 points, and Mike Magula, former Youngstown (Ohio) College sharpshooter, who collected seven baskets and 15 tallies.

Three former All-American Pro League basketballers, namely, Steve Magula, player-coach, Steve Chuba and Larry Kukur, who were with Shaaron when the Cumberland Dukes were in that circuit, also helped make it an unpleasant finale for the locals in last night's tilt.

At no time did the Old Germans lead in last night's game. The Vagabonds, who whipped the Cabiners in Hagerstown by the score of 77-67 on Saturday, jumped off to a 5-0 lead on fielders by Spivey and Mike Magula and a free throw by former Kentucky ace. The score was 28-13 as the quarter ended and at the halfway mark the locals trailed by 26 points—52 to 26.

Midway in the third period the visitors enjoyed a 27-point advantage at 66-39 and when the quarter ended Detroit held the long end of a 70-48 score. The Vagabonds led by 28 points (80-52) early in the final stanza.

Last night's setback was the most decisive of the season suffered by the Old Gees in 16 contests, twelve of which they won.

Lester Scores 23 Points

Roy Lester sparked the losers with 23 points on nine field goals and 5-10 fouls to up his total to 255 tallies. Bob Pence who paced the local pros in scoring for the 6th time in seven years of play garnered eleven points to finish the campaign with a total of 264.

George Geatz and Jimmy Clevenger collected 13 points each. Geatz gave the fans a thrill in the final heat when he connected with three successive hook shots after the Vagabonds had taken an 80-52 lead.

Mike Magula was the only player ejected on personal fouls. He made his exit in the closing minute of play. The lineups:

Detroit	G.	F.	Old Germans	G.	F.
S. Magula	4	1	Pence	4	3
Chuba	2	1	Geatz	4	1
Spivey	16	3	Lester	9	5

Seven Race Horses Including Miche Die In Fire At Jamaica

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Fire broke out in a barn at the Jamaica Race Track in Queens tonight, and officials said seven horses were "presumed dead."

One well-known race horse, Miche, was missing and a race-track official said it was feared that horse had died.

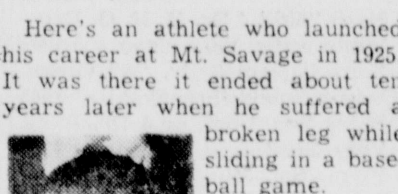

A number of other horses escaped the fire.

As You WERE

(This is the 103rd in a series of sketches with pictures of well known sport personalities of the past from the album of the Cumberland News Sports Editor. See if you can identify them by their photo.)

Here's an athlete who launched his career at Mt. Savage in 1925. It was there it ended about ten years later when he suffered a broken leg while sliding in a baseball game.

He's a tall fellow and often was referred to as "High Pockets." His three brothers were all well known athletes. In fact, he has two nephews who have occupied the sports spotlight lately.

It was back in 1924-25 that he started playing basketball with the Shamrock Juniors at Mt. Savage. The next four seasons he was a member of LaSalle Institute varsity quints. There he alternated at center with Art Kamens in 1926 and 1927 and was captain and regular pivot man in 1928 and 1929.

He played in National Catholic Tournaments with the Explorers in 1926, 1927 and 1928 at Chicago and in his senior year led the scorers of the W. M. I. League with 160 points in 10 games. In 1927 he was goalie of LaSalle's soccer team in the W.M.I. League.

Twenty-two years ago this young man coached Mt. Savage High School's basketball team and four years ago he was head coach of the cagers at his Alma Mater.

Many fans will remember him as a member of the Casey's basketball team from 1930 until the club disbanded. He was the hero in what is believed to be the longest pro basketball game on record here.

His field goal beat the Seneca Indians at the armory in a battle that lasted three overtime periods.

His name has appeared on the roster of the Cumberland Elks, the Cloakers and Cumberland Collegians quints and he coached the Tri-State Mine and Mill Supply Company quints that brought play back to Cumberland after the Casey's stepped out of the picture. This club upset the Pittsburgh Pirates, headed by Duddy Moore, now head coach at Duquesne University, and met such other top-notch teams as New York Renaissance, the New York Celtics and Loyola University of Chicago.

In baseball he excelled as a catcher and also played first base and in the outfield. While playing with Corriganville he belted one of the longest homers ever hit at Walters Beach. He started out with Mt. Savage in 1926 and played with St. Patrick's of Cumberland in the Holy Name League, Maryland Glass Works, Celanese, Ridgeley, Cumberland Eagles, Corriganville and Ellerslie.

It was in the opening game of the 1935 season that he suffered a broken leg while playing at Mt. Savage for Ellerslie.

What is this former athlete's name?

He was with the Cumberland Casey's. He was taken in 1949 when Midland, Md. players are Tommy and Marty. He's brother is Thomas, Marty and his brother is John E. Midland, secretary of the Windsor Hotel Company.

He is John E. Midland, secretary of the Windsor Hotel Company.

Sam Snead, the veteran slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had a five over par 77 and faded from third place to a tie for 17th at 213.

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, amateur, carded his third straight sub par round with a 70 and was far ahead of other amateurs at 211.

Grace Methodist, Calvary, Centre St., St. Matthew's Win

Grace Methodist's defending champions, Calvary Methodist of Ridgeley, which finished in first place this season, St. Matthew's and Centre Street Methodist advanced to the semi-finals in the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League playoffs by winning Saturday on the "Y" court.

Emmanuel Methodist bowed to Grace Methodist, 50-45, Calvary Methodist defeated First Presbyterian, 53-47, St. Matthew's extended its winning streak to 21 games by whipping Emmanuel Episcopal, 81-41, and St. Luke's fell before Centre Street, 57-51.

Peoria Annexes AAU Crown 2nd Straight Year

Yardley Is Voted "Best" In Tourney

DENVER, March 22 (AP)—The championship of the 46th annual National AAU Basketball Tournament was grabbed last night for Peoria's Diesel Cats but the individual honors went to George Yardley, the backbone of the runner-up Los Alamitos, Calif., Naval Air Station team.

Racks Up 29 Points
Yardley, who tipped in 29 points in a futile effort to conquer the Cats, received a thunderous ovation from the 6,500 fans when he left the game in the final minutes as the bench-strong Illinois team wrapped it up, 73-62.

When Yardley was called up to receive his trophy as a member of the AAU's all-star honor team, Lou Wilke of Bartlesville, Okla., introduced the blond, 6-foot-4-inch jumping jack as "The greatest basketball player in the world today."

That may have been an exaggeration by the long-time National AAU basketball chairman but a second rousing ovation by the crowd indicated their agreement.

Yardley's great performance overshadowed that of Howie Williams, former Purdue ace, who paced Peoria with 17 points, mostly on spectacular two-hand set shots from 30 and more feet out.

Yardley is due soon to receive his release from the Naval Air Station at Long Beach. There were reports he was considering a professional offer or that he might go with the revived AAU club at Oakland, Calif. He played collegiate ball at Stanford.

Third place went to San Diego, Calif., Grishalva Motors who turned back the tournament's surprise team, Everybody's Drug of Eugene, Ore., 56-48.

Worsham Ties Bolt For Lead

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Lew Worsham, former National Open champion and a veteran of the tournament tour, shot his third straight 68 in the Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament today to share the leadership with Tommy Bolt who had a 70.

They stood at 204 with the final 18-hole round coming up Monday. Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Texas, who led the first day and was tied for first with Bolt after Saturday's round, needed 72 strokes to cover the rain-soaked Hyde Park municipal course. This put him in third place with 266.

Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, who won the tournament two years ago with four consecutive 68s, shot his third 69 in a row for 207.

The best round of the day—one that set a new course record—was an eight-under-par 64 by Dave Douglas, Newark, Del.

Douglas started the day 11 strokes behind but made up six of them and has 209. He is behind Charlie Harper, Ft. Benning, Ga., Jay Hebert, Erie, Pa., and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., who have 208 each.

Sam Snead, the veteran slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had a five over par 77 and faded from third place to a tie for 17th at 213.

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, amateur, carded his third straight sub par round with a 70 and was far ahead of other amateurs at 211.

Pat O'Sullivan Plays Mary Faulk In Finals

PINEHURST, N. C., March 22 (AP)—Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., and Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., today gained the finals of the North and South Golf Championship.

Miss O'Sullivan took a 2 and 1 decision over Carol Diring, Tiffin, Ohio, and Miss Faulk turned back 18-year-old Barbara McIntire, Toledo, Ohio, 3 and 2. They will meet tomorrow morning over the 18-hole route for the title.

Jackie Robinson Denies Reports Of Racial Tension

Says Gilliam On 2nd Will Strengthen Club

By JACK HANDBY
MIAMI, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Jackie Robinson spoke out today about his shift from second to third base, denying reports of racial tension and dissension on the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"What's good for the Dodgers is good for Robinson," he commented. "If the kid (Junior Gilliam) can hit .275, I think our club will be stronger with him on second base. He can get balls that I can't reach any more—maybe two or three years ago but no more. After all, I've only got a couple years left. If I have to move, I'd rather play third than first."

As for racial trouble on the Dodgers, Robinson had this to say: "If we have racial trouble on our ball club, then the rest of the country should have the same thing. It just isn't so. Not with the kind of fellows we have on this team."

Robinson admits he wasn't too happy about shifting off second base to let Gilliam, a Negro rookie up from Montreal, take over his job.

"I read about it down in Puerto Rico," said Robinson. "I told my wife this means I probably would go to third base. She said she hoped not. She said they would compare me with Billy Cox all the time—everytime a ball got past they would say 'Cox would have had it.'"

"It all boils down to one thing, Charlie (Manager Charlie Dressen) didn't want to tell Cox. Dressen still hasn't told Cox what he told reporters at the Vero Beach, Fla., camp several weeks ago—that Cox would be asked to give up third base for a utility job in '33. Cox was the best third baseman in the league and a World Series star last year."

Seniors To Vie May 9, Juniors May 20; Two New Entries Listed

Frostburg has been selected as the site for the Allegany county senior and junior high school track and field meets to be held during the month of May. It was announced last night by Arthur G. Ramey, director of athletics for the county public high schools.

The invitation to the schools to hold both the senior and junior meets at the new Beall High Field was extended at a meeting of the Allegany County Board of Education and was accepted unanimously.

The senior high meet is set for Saturday, May 9, starting at 1 p. m., while the junior high meet will be held Wednesday, May 20, also starting at 1 o'clock.

Shifted From Fort Hill

This will be the first time that the county meet has been held any place except at Fort Hill since the track there was built. The first county meets were held at South End Park. Thereafter the P.A.L. meets were staged for many years on the old Beall High grounds until the meets outgrew the space available. Then the annual events were shifted to the Cumberland Fair Grounds until the Fort Hill track became available. During the Second World War the meets were discontinued.

Beall's new track was constructed last summer. It is a quarter mile cinder track, twenty feet wide, permitting six 36 inch lanes, or possibly seven or eight thirty inch lanes. The 36 inch lanes are more desirable.

Mt. Savage, Central Entered

In addition to the four schools which participated last year, two other schools are entering the picture for 1953. Both the new Mt. Savage school and Central High of Lonaconing will sponsor teams for the two meets. These schools were represented by John Thomas and John Meyers, respectively. Both Thomas and Meyers indicated that the track activities at their schools would be coached by other faculty members themselves. At Mt. Savage the track coach will be Joseph Carter while at Central Calvin Rankin will handle the track and field aspirants. Both Carter and Rankin are faculty members at their respective schools.

Events for the senior high meet will be the same as those of 1952: 100 yards dash, 220, 440, 880, mile run, 440 yards relay, 880 yards relay and mile relay in track while the field events will be broad jump, high jump, pole vault, discus throw and 12 pound shot put. For all of the individual events each school will be limited to two entrants. One team from each competing school may be entered in a relay race.

To be eligible a boy must not have reached his 19th birthday as of April 1, 1953. Entries must be made to Arthur G. Ramey for the county schools before 9 a. m. Tuesday, May 5.

Coaches of competing schools will meet at Beall High School Wednesday, May 6 to draw places in relays, heats, etc.

The junior high meet for boys in grades 7, 8 and 9 will be run in three classifications: 95 pound class, 115 pound class and junior unlimited class. No boy who has reached his 16th birthday after April 1, 1953 will be eligible.

Junior Events Listed

The events are: 95 Pound Class—80 yards dash, 440 yards relay, broad jump and high jump. 115 Pound Class—100 yards dash, 440 yards relay, broad jump and high jump. In both of these classes a boy will be limited to one track event and one field event.

In the junior unlimited class the events will be 100 yards dash, 440 yards relay, 880 yards relay, broad jump, high jump and 8 pound shot put. In this class a contestant may participate in three events, either two track and one field, or two field and one track. However, no boy may be a member of both relay teams. His two track events must be a dash and one relay. Two boys from each school may participate in each of the individual events, one relay team from each school may compete.

Entries will be due in the hands of the county director before 9 a. m. on Monday, May 18, to be followed by a meeting of the coaches at Beall High School Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Duke University's basketball team, which won 18 and lost seven during the recently concluded season, had no seniors. The squad was comprised of five juniors, five sophomores and two freshmen.

Exhibition Baseball Yankees Take 13-11 Slugfest From Reds

TAMPA, Fla., March 22 (AP)—The New York Yankees outslugged the Cincinnati Reds, 13-11, in a batting barrage today, the teams combining for 36 hits and 54 total bases.

Bobby Adams led the Reds' 20-hit attack with four blows and Jim Greengrass slammed three, including a homer.

The champions blasted three Red hurlers for 16 hits, including a home run by Gil McDougald.

The Yankees gained an 8-1 lead for their ace, Vic Raschi, in three innings but the big pitcher blew all of it. He staggered through five innings before calling it a day and was tagged for ten hits. Lefty Bill Miller was pounded for ten more in the last four frames.

Tribe Bows In 13th

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22 (AP)—An error by Rookie First Baseman Joe Macko led to an unearned run in the 13th inning today and cost the Cleveland Indians a 5-4 loss to the San Francisco Seals.

Macko dropped Al Rosen's throw to first base and Nini Tornay was safe with none out. Pitcher Walter Clough sacrificed and then Shortstop Davey Melton doubled down the left field line, sending across the winning run.

Rosen sent the game into extra innings with a two-run homer in the ninth. It was his first hit in 19 times at bat this spring.

The previous Saturday's $634,785 had eclipsed the previous mark of $604,079.

Bi-State Will Not Fold, Four Clubs Post Forfeits

Seek Two More Teams, Meeting Set Tuesday

Reports to the effect that the Bi-State Baseball League was about ready to fold were spiked yesterday when four clubs posted franchise fees at a special meeting in the Loyal Order of Moose Home in Keyser.

Carl "Pete" Dick, league treasurer, reported that Mt. Savage, Grantsville, McCoole and Cumberland's Old Germans posted the necessary cash and he added there is a longshot possibility that there may be six teams lined up by the time the campaign gets under way.

Whether the Bi-State will operate with four or six teams definitely will be known when another special meeting is held tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the Queen City Brewing Company.

Spivey Stars As Vagabonds Top Old Gees

Bill Gets 16 Baskets, 35 Points As Locals Drop Final, 90 To 72

Spectacular "Bill" Spivey, 7-foot center, dumped 35 points into the hoops—18 in the first half and 17 in the last two periods—to lead the Detroit Vagabond Kings to a 90-72 triumph over Cumberland's Old Germans last night as the locals wound up their campaign on SS. Peter and Paul court before a gathering of 460 paying patrons.

Atkins, Magula Help

Assisting the 265-pound giant in routing the locals were Doug Atkins, 6-foot-7 All-America football player from the University of Tennessee, who chipped in with nine goals and 18 points, and Mike Magula, former Youngstown (Ohio) College sharpshooter, who collected seven baskets and 15 tallies.

Three former All-American Pro League basketballers, namely, Steve Magula, player-coach, Steve Chubs and Larry Kikura, who were with S. H. A. when the Cumberland Hawks were in that circuit, also helped make it an unpleasant finale for the locals in last night's tilt.

At no time did the Old Germans lead in last night's game. The Vagabonds, who whipped the Cabiniers in Hagerstown by the score of 77-67 on Saturday, jumped off to a 5-0 lead on fielders by Spivey and Mike Magula and a free throw by former Kentucky ace. The score was 28-13 as the quarter ended and at the halfway mark the locals trailed by 26 points—52 to 26.

Midway in the third period the visitors enjoyed a 27-point advantage at 66-39 and when the quarter ended Detroit held the long end of a 70-48 score. The Vagabonds led by 28 points (80-52) early in the final stanza.

Last night's setback was the most decisive of the season suffered by the Old Gees in 16 contests, twelve of which they won.

Lester Scores 23 Points

Roy Lester sparked the losers with 23 points on nine field goals and 10 fouls to up his total to 255 tallies. Bob Pence who paced the local pros in scoring for the 6th time in seven years of play garnered eleven points to finish the campaign with a total of 264.

George Geatz and Jimmy Clevenger collected 13 points each. Geatz gave the fans a thrill in the final heat when he connected with three successive hook shots after the Vagabonds had taken an 80-52 lead.

Mike Magula was the only player ejected on personal fouls. He made his exit in the closing minute of play. The lineups:

Detroit: S. Magula f. 4, 1; Pence f. 4, 3; Chuba f. 2, 1; Geatz f. 6, 1; Spivey e. 16, 3; Lester e. 9, 5; Kikura e. 3, 2; Bell e. 4, 0; M. Magula e. 7, 1; Clevenger e. 5, 3; Atkins e. 9, 0; Day f. 2, 0; Totals 41, 8-20; Reer e. 0, 0.

Personals: Detroit—S. Magula 3, Chuba 3, Spivey, Kikura 3, M. Magula 6, Atkins 10, Old Germans—Pence, Geatz 3, Lester 3, Bell, Clevenger 2, Boor.

Score by Periods: 28 24 18 20—90 OLD GERMAN 13 13 22 24—72

Seven Race Horses Including Miche Die In Fire At Jamaica

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Fire broke out in a barn at the Jamaica Race Track in Queens tonight, and officials said seven horses were "presumed dead."

One well-known race horse, Miche, was missing and a race-track official said it was feared that horse had died.

A number of other horses escaped the fire.

As You Were

(This is the 103rd in a series of sketches with pictures of well known sport personalities of the past from the album of the Cumberland News Sports Editor. See if you can identify them by their photo.)

Here's an athlete who launched his career at Mt. Savage in 1925. It was there it ended about ten years later when he suffered a broken leg while sliding in a baseball game.

He's a tall fellow and often was referred to as "High Pockets." His three brothers were all well known athletes. In fact, he has two nephews who have occupied the sports spotlight lately.

It was back in 1924-25 that he started playing basketball with the Shamrock Juniors at Mt. Savage. The next four seasons he was a member of LaSalle Institute varsity quints. There he alternated at center with Art Kamens in 1926 and 1927 and was captain and regular pivot man in 1928 and 1929. He played in National Catholic Tournaments with the Explorers in 1926, 1927 and 1928 at Chicago and in his senior year led the scorers of the W. M. I. League with 160 points in 10 games. In 1927 he was goalie of LaSalle's soccer team in the W.M.I. League.

Twenty-two years ago this young man coached Mt. Savage High School's basketball team and four years ago he was head coach of the cagers at his Alma Mater.

Many fans will remember him as a member of the Casey's basketball team from 1930 until the club disbanded. He was the hero in what is believed to be the longest pro basketball game on record here. His field goal beat the Seneca Indians at the armory in a battle that lasted three overtime periods.

His name has appeared on the roster of the Cumberland Elks, the Cloakers and Cumberland Collegians quints and he coached the Tri-State Mine and Mill Supply Company quint that brought pro ball back to Cumberland after the Caseys stepped out of the picture. This club upset the Pittsburgh Pirates, headed by Ducey Moore, now head coach at Duquesne University, and met such other top-notch teams as New York Ruminance, the New York Celtics and Loyola University of Chicago.

In baseball he excelled as a catcher and also played first base and in the outfield. While playing with Corriganville he belted one of the longest homers ever hit at Walters Beach. He started out with Mt. Savage in 1926 and played with St. Patrick's of Cumberland in the Holy Name League, Maryland Glass Works, Celanese, Ridgeley, Cumberland Eagles, Corriganville and Ellerslie.

It was in the opening game of the 1935 season that he suffered a broken leg while playing at Mt. Savage for Ellerslie.

What is this former athlete's name?

It was with the Cumberland Caseys that he was taken in 1934 when Billie Miller, Lasalle athlete of the 1920s, and "Marty" McPherson are Tommy and his brothers are Thomas, Matt, and John E. McPherson, secretary of the Windsor Hotel Company.

Sam Sneed, the veteran slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had a five over par 77 and faded from third place to a tie for 17th at 213.

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, amateur, carded his third straight sub par round with a 70 and was far ahead of other amateurs at 211.

Pat O'Sullivan took a 2 and 1 decision over Carol Diring, Tiffin, Ohio, and Miss Faulk turned back 18-year-old Barbara McIntire, Toledo, Ohio, 3 and 2. They will meet tomorrow morning over the 18-hole route for the title.

Grace Methodist, Calvary, Centre St., St. Matthew's Win

Grace Methodist's defending champions, Calvary Methodist of Ridgeley, which finished in first place this season, St. Matthew's and Centre Street Methodist advanced to the semi-finals in the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League playoffs by winning Saturday on the "Y" court.

Emmanuel Methodist bowed to Grace Methodist, 50-45, Calvary Methodist defeated First Presbyterian, 53-47, St. Matthew's extended its winning streak to 21 games by whipping Emmanuel Episcopal, 81-41, and St. Luke's fell before Centre Street, 57-51.

Five Schools Land Players On All-Star Team Of WMI League

Players of five of the six teams in the W.M.I. have been named to the circuit's all-star team for the 1952-53 season by coaches of the schoolboy loop.

Those named on the first team are Mike Nofsinger, of Bruce; Billy Davis of Beall; Jim Hoffman of Allegany; George McGreggor of Fort Hill and Robert Kirk of Barton.

The second team is composed of Dave Steele, Bill Turner and Herbert (Smoky) Howe, of Allegany; Ed Thompson and Richard Waddell of Central; Dave Marple and Bobby Wilson, Bruce.

Players accorded honorable mention are: Bob Brant and Jim Faris, Fort Hill; Jim Cave, Bruce; Dick Rank, Allegany; Ronnie Breneman and Paul Thompson, Beall.

Moose Team To Meet

A meeting of the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose softball team will be held Tuesday at 7 p. m., instead of 8 p. m., as originally scheduled, at the Moose Home. Players of last year's team and others interested are invited to attend.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Lew Whorham, former National Open champion and a veteran of the tournament tour, shot his third straight 68 in the Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament today to share the leadership with Tommy Bolt who had a 70.

They stood at 204 with the final 18-hole round coming up Monday.

Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Texas, who led the first day and was tied for first with Bolt after Saturday's round, needed 72 strokes to cover the rain-soaked Hyde Park municipal course. This put him in third place with 206.

Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, who won the tournament two years ago with four consecutive 68s, shot his third 69 in a row for 207.

The best round of the day—one that set a new course record—was an eight-under-par 64 by Dave Douglas, Newark, Del.

Douglas started the day 11 strokes behind but made up six of them and has 209. He is behind Charlie Harper, Ft. Benning, Ga., Jay Hebert, Erie, Pa., and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., who have 208 each.

Sam Sneed, the veteran slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had a five over par 77 and faded from third place to a tie for 17th at 213.

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, amateur, carded his third straight sub par round with a 70 and was far ahead of other amateurs at 211.

Pat O'Sullivan took a 2 and 1 decision over Carol Diring, Tiffin, Ohio, and Miss Faulk turned back 18-year-old Barbara McIntire, Toledo, Ohio, 3 and 2. They will meet tomorrow morning over the 18-hole route for the title.

Miss O'Sullivan took a 2 and 1 decision over Carol Diring, Tiffin, Ohio, and Miss Faulk turned back 18-year-old Barbara McIntire, Toledo, Ohio, 3 and 2. They will meet tomorrow morning over the 18-hole route for the title.

Pat O'Sullivan Plays Mary Faulk In Finals

PINEHURST, N. C., March 22 (AP)—Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., and Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., today gained the finals of the North and South Golf Championship.

Miss O'Sullivan took a 2 and 1 decision over Carol Diring, Tiffin, Ohio, and Miss Faulk turned back 18-year-old Barbara McIntire, Toledo, Ohio, 3 and 2. They will meet tomorrow morning over the 18-hole route for the title.

In Memoriam

In memory of our Mother, Mrs. Leonora Larson, who died one year ago, March 23, 1952.
You rocked us in our cradles, you taught us our first words, you kissed our cheeks to make them well, and Oh, so tenderly! And now that God has called you, we know that you are ready to "come home." We know that you prepare a place to make your Heaven our Home. Her Husband and Children

In Memoriam
In memory of our Mother, Mrs. Leonora
Larson, who died one year ago, March 23, 1952.
You rocked us in our cradles, you taught us on your knee;
You kissed our hurts to make them well,
and oh, so tenderly.
And now that God has called you, and you have said, "I come!"
We know that you prepare a place to make your Heaven our Home.

Kelly Workers Ratify New 2 Year Contract

Meeting Set On Rejected Holiday Issue

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers Union of America (CIO), yesterday voted unanimous approval of a new two-year contract with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

But the Rubber Workers, at an overflow meeting in the TWUA hall, rejected part of one of the 86 changes included in the pact which is to be effective until March 1, 1955, according to William G. Rice, president.

Miss Mary Robb Is Soloist In "The Creation"

Choral Program Set Tonight At Allegany

Miss Mary Robb, a supervisor of music in Allegany County public schools, will be one of the four soloists in tonight's Cumberland Choral Society's performance of Haydn's oratorio, "The Creation."

The program, to be held at 8:30 in Allegany High School auditorium, features Miss Robb and three Peabody Conservatory students in top singing roles. Miss Robb, a contralto, is a native of Cumberland. She will join Joseph F. McCall, Carolyn Bailey and Raymond Brown in singing the feature solos in the Choral Society's rendition of the oratorio.

McCall, the tenor, is a graduate of Loyola College of Baltimore and is a candidate for a music degree at Peabody Conservatory. He is soloist at the Basilica of the Assumption in Baltimore, SS. Philip and James Church in Baltimore and choir director at St. Agnes and St. Luke's churches.

Miss Bailey is present holder of the Eton scholarship at Peabody and is soloist at First Methodist Church, Baltimore. A soprano, she sang a lead role in "The Creation" presented by the Peabody Choir and has appeared on television and radio.

Brown is the baritone and has a degree from Peabody and Johns Hopkins University. A member of the Hilltop Musical Company he has appeared in numerous roles and has made frequent appearances as a guest soloist in musical recitals and concerts on radio and television.

K. Of C. Honors Eight Who Died During 1952

Eight members of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, who died during 1952 were honored yesterday afternoon during a memorial service at the council home on Mechanic Street, according to J. Arthur McDade, grand knight.

Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and council chaplain delivered the eulogy. W. A. Gunter, council lecturer, was in charge of the program.

Francis Kastner, acting recorder, read the names of the following deceased members who died during the past year:

Joseph A. Coleman, past grand knight, Edward F. Wegman, J. Leo Dougherty, Harry C. Ways Sr., Henry J. Koelker, Michael F. O'Neill Sr., Bernard A. Noone and James B. Norton.

Yesterday's service, the first such program held in the past several years, was well attended by members of the council.

Amvets Elect Today

An election of officers will be held today by members of J. Louis Wolford Post 1, Amvets. The polls will be open from 12 noon until 8 p. m. at the post home.

James C. Angellatta has withdrawn as a candidate for post commander, leaving Robert F. Baker unopposed.

$2 Millions Cut From State's Budget Figure

Taxing For Surplus To Be Discontinued

Plans for a $2,000,000 cut in the state's 1953-54 budget were announced yesterday by the House Ways and Means Committee, which has favored two other tax cuts within the last month.

The 30-man committee, headed by Delegate John Wood Logan (D-Caroline), announced it has pared more than two millions from the administration's $195 million budget.

The committee also headed the drive for the 15 per cent reduction in income taxes and a decrease of nearly three cents in the property tax assessment.

Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Westernport, a member of the powerful House committee, said the action means that the state's taxing will be placed on a current basis, and that "taxing for surplus" will be discontinued in Maryland.

When the taxpayer has overpaid, Whitworth said, he deserves a cut in taxes.

Examines Budget

This is the first time in 10 years the House committee has undertaken full examination of the budget. For the last several years it has appointed a subcommittee to work with the Senate Finance Committee in examining the governor's money proposals.

The Finance Committee reportedly is far behind in getting down to serious business in deciding on the budget. Two meetings for that purpose last week didn't materialize. However, the Finance Committee has held many hearings on the departmental requests, and some cuts were indicated by the senators.

Doesn't Affect Salaries

Logan said the cuts by his committee did not affect the proposed salary hikes for state employees. He said some ill-founded reports to that effect "simply are not true."

The House committee cuts represent the first time in several years that the General Assembly has specified where the cuts should be made. Usually the Legislature asks the governor, in the form of a resolution, to reduce the budget a certain amount.

Logan said the Ways and Means Committee was unanimous in approving the cuts. He said he would not divulge where the budgetary reductions were until they were presented to the House late next week.

Will Oppose Bill

Delegate Whitworth announced last night he will oppose Senate Bill 377, which passed the Senate last week. It requires Senate confirmation of gubernatorial appointments to state and county boards of education, and provides an extra member on each county board to represent county commissioners.

He said he does not approve of placing politics in the schools and that the plan would greatly increase the possibilities of politics in the school system.

The Westernport legislator will work for Senate Bill 411, which changes the distribution of the incentive fund for the construction of public school buildings.

The plan, he said, would give Allegany County additional funds for its school construction program.

Local Dog Breeder With Prized Pets

Phil Carolan is shown above with three of his Doberman Pinschers at his home, 619 Shriver Avenue. Carolan purchased his first Doberman about five years ago and now has kennels at Mt. Savage. Some of the dogs born at his kennels are now owned by dog fanciers in 28 states, and in Europe. He is most enthusiastic about his dogs and takes pride in caring for them. Carolan has won numerous prizes at various dog shows in the United States.

Thoroughbred Doberman Pinschers Born Here Now Located In 28 States, Europe

BY CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

Thoroughbred dogs born and raised in Cumberland by a local breeder are now prized possessions of owners in 28 states, Canada, Italy and Russia.

About five years ago, Philip T. Carolan, of 619 Shriver Avenue, became interested in Doberman Pinschers when he and his wife, Joan, went on a vacation trip to Florida.

Upon their return to Cumberland they purchased a Doberman from a dog fancier in Parker's Landing, Pa. and today Phil owns five bitches and one male and maintains kennels along Foundry Road in Mt. Savage.

He and his wife have traveled to various states and into Canada to have their dogs bred and the offspring have been purchased by residents in this country, Canada and Europe.

Many Award Winners

Gracing the mantle of the Carolan home are a number of trophies won by their dogs while on the show circuit. They also possess a number of ribbons received during various competitions.

Carolan's male Doberman Pinscher, Blank, is the only known surviving son of Troll VD Engelsburg which has produced more champions and sires than any dog of any breed per bitches bred.

This dog was twice winner of the Wander Prize — best dog of all breeds combined which is picked for a three-year period by the German Kennel Club.

Troll was also Tri-International Champion and the only known Doberman to hold or have ever held the title of World Sieger.

Blank is a brother to Ossie, who is the mother of Dictator and other leading Dobermans. Another brother, Ferrie, is grand sire of Storm, who for the past two years has won top honors at the Westminster Show in New York. Ferrie is the only other Doberman to hold such honors.

Schnapps, one of Phil's bitches, has had a litter of puppies, some of which are well on their way to winning laurels. Father of the litter is Blank and their blood line is very close to that of Dictator, one of the greatest Dobermans of the past ten years.

Other bitches owned by Carolan and registered with the American Kennel Club are Lulu, Fritzie, Belle and Blenda. The first two dogs are "expecting" next month.

Phil is very enthusiastic about his hobby and pursues it for the furtherment of the breed. He and his wife receive numerous letters from owners and prospective buyers. Mrs. Carolan faithfully answers the mail when she gets a few moments from her household and the rearing of four children.

Feeding Problem

Carolan, who is also co-owner of a tavern on North Centre Street, visits the kennels daily and feeds and cares for the dogs which require extensive attention.

Remarkable on the feeding problem, Phil said that horsemeat is the basic food for the animals from the time they are weaned until they are eight weeks old. Each dog, he added, will consume up to a pound of meat a day.

This year he expects to buy at least five horses and slaughter them to satisfy the appetites of his Dobermans. After eight weeks when they usually weigh about 22 pounds, the menu consists of meal and horsemeat. At this age, the ears of the pups are "cropped" in order that they will stand erect adding to the distinctive appearance of the dogs.

Carolan confides in a number of other dog fanciers for further information. Included are John Hess, of College Park, who maintains the largest kennels in this area, Pete Corley, a local beagle breeder, and Dr. C. N. Foose Jr., veterinarian of LaVale.

He is a member of the Doberman Pinscher Club of America as well as the local Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club. Up-to-the-minute data and statistics is gathered from the magazine, "Dog World," and the "Dobe News," and through these periodicals Carolan keeps in constant touch with other owners throughout the country.

High Intelligence

Carolan describes the Doberman Pinscher as "fierce protection" on its own premises yet most gentle among children. The dog is known to be obedient, sharp and quick in decisions.

They have been used successfully as seeing eye dogs; proved their worth on the battlefield during World War II; used effectively as watch dogs on the farm and are capable of working cattle.

Aside from his hobby with his Dobermans, his duties at the tavern and responsibility of raising four children, Carolan is also well-known for his ability on the grid-iron. He had several successful seasons coaching at LaSalle High School.

But recently he gave up his coaching chores because he figured he had just "too much to do."

He entered military service in July of 1952 and prior to his present assignment took basic training the MRTC at Camp Pickett.

A graduate of Capon Bridge High School Pugh holds a BS degree from the University of West Virginia.

George Keim Sets Maple Syrup Record

Expects To Yield Over 2000 Gallons

SALISBURY, Pa., March 22 (AP)—George Keim is busy these days boiling the 7,000 buckets of maple sap which may make him king of the Pennsylvania maple syrup industry again this year.

Keim said the yield from trees on his 1,100-acre farm near the Somerset county-Maryland State border will produce close to 2,000 gallons of syrup.

He based the estimate on early boilings which are giving a gallon of syrup for 45 gallons of sap. Last year, Keim said, it took 60 gallons of sap to produce a gallon of syrup.

During the season when the sap is running best, Keim hires special workers to drive tractors over the farm and collect the sap from small containers placed under the trees.

That's when Mrs. Keim's work as a cook reaches the season peak. She won't estimate how much or how often food is prepared each day, but says as an example:

"I pack 13 sandwiches for one of my own boys and then find him starving by the time he gets in for supper."

The Keims' daughter, Sarah, contributes mightily to her father's success. She turns out the final maple sugar and has a long list of state fair medals to prove she does it well.

Keim says its heat which gives maple syrup its flavor. And that's where Sarah shines. She oversees the final boiling and watches to see that it isn't too much or too little. Either makes an inferior product.

Keim is the fourth generation of his family to depend on the maple syrup industry, but he is the first to hit the state's top yearly production figure and hold on to it.

Spring Ushers In Planting Of Maryland Crops

Ideal Weather Makes Good Crop Conditions

With Spring having officially ushered Old Man Winter to the sidelines as of Saturday and the temperatures soaring to the high 60's, Maryland farmers already are looking towards a banner year in spring-planted crops.

The prospective total acreage of crops in the state will be about the same as last year, the department of agriculture predicts with increases expected in rye, hay, potatoes, and soybeans and slight decreases in wheat, oats and barley.

A total of 359 million acres of principal crops will be planted this spring if farmers' current plans materialize. And with the help of the weather man an excellent yield is foreseen.

Acreage About Same

The number of acres available for spring planting this year is slightly more than in 1952 statistics show with large abandoned winter wheat acreage expected to be available for replanting to spring crops.

With the robin returning, grass beginning to turn green, flowers in bloom and warm, sunny days the vogue, Spring has truly arrived.

Ideal weather such as yesterday's tend to make the future outlook for the Maryland farmer bright indeed. Of course, others find themselves looking out the windows with vacant stares, wistfully watching the birds hopping and flying around, noticing the buds popping forth as flowers and trees begin to bloom, small local planes are beginning to fly around and the kids have their kites out.

Think Of Spring Chores

The average man soon will begin to think of that motor that needs a quick going over, the garden that needs digging, the lawn furniture that needs cleaning, the car that ought to be polished, that fishing pole that should be checked and how to get out of the house when the wife begins her spring house cleaning.

Yesterday was bright and warm with the thermometer hitting a high of 63 at the official weather bureau at Constitution Park while low was recorded as 41.

Helpful rains will aid the farmer's bid to raise more crops. The weather man is predicting a warm rain early today with a cloudy, rather mild day.

The bright days of the past week-end seemed to bring more travelers on the highways state police of the tri-state area noted but no serious accidents marred the travelways.

Quartets Sign Up For Contests Here Tomorrow

Two more quartets have signed up for the City Recreation Department's Barber Shop Quartet contest, Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, announced yesterday.

They include a quartet from the West Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind, Romney, W. Va., and the Unbalanced Lynch, Ed Sell, Joe Footen and John Kreidler.

Other entries to date are the "Off Chords" of Allegany High School and the "King's Quartet" of Fort Hill High School.

Finals in the contest will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall Auditorium.

All quartets who enter the contest must sing "In the Evening by the Moonlight," plus another selection of their choice. The singers cannot have accompaniment, but a starting chord will be allowed.

Masons To Confer Degree On Three

Salem Chapter No. 18, Royal Arch Masons, will confer the Royal Arch degree on a class of three persons tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic Temple.

Visitors from Frostburg and Lonaconing are expected to attend the degree work at the conclusion of which a luncheon will be served in the banquet hall on the first floor of the temple.

Sen. Beall To Ask Hearings On Parkway Easement Bill

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, in Cumberland Saturday, said he will immediately ask for hearings on U. S. Senate Bill 711.

This measure sponsored by the Frostburg senator will provide for perpetual easements to industry and others desiring them across the proposed C&O Canal Parkway between Hancock and Cumberland.

In the Maryland General Assembly, Senate Bill 211, sponsored by Allegany County Senator Robert B. Kimble, during the past week passed the Senate by an overwhelming 24-4 vote.

This bill allows the State Roads Commission to buy and cede to the National Park Service the rights-of-way needed for the parkway.

An amendment has this bill contingent on the passage of Senator Beall's measure in the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives.

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde of the Sixth District has introduced into the House of Representatives a companion bill to the U. S. Senator's so that its passage may be expedited.

Senator Beall said his easement bill is in committee and he will ask for immediate hearings on it.

The U. S. Senator called upon the people of Western Maryland to urge the county's six delegates in the Maryland legislature to push the passage of the state bill.

Here on one of his regular visits to his office in the Cumberland Post Office Building Saturday, Senator Beall met a steady stream of callers at his office from 9 a. m. to early afternoon.

He said he will again visit his office on April 4 to meet his Western Maryland constituents and again on April 18 when both he and Rep. Hyde will be here.

County Delegation At Work

Members of the Allegany County delegation to the House of Delegates in the General Assembly are shown here going over the details of some of the many local and state-wide bills they are sponsoring or will vote on soon at Annapolis. The group expects to push for early passage of the important Parkway bill in the House which would enable the state to acquire land between Cum-

Kelly Workers Ratify New 2 Year Contract

Meeting Set On Rejected Holiday Issue

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers Union of America (CIO), yesterday voted unanimous approval of a new two-year contract with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Miss Mary Robb Is Soloist In "The Creation"

Choral Program Set Tonight At Allegany

Miss Mary Robb, a supervisor of music in Allegany County public schools, will be one of the four soloists in tonight's Cumberland Choral Society's performance of Haydn's oratorio, "The Creation."

The program, to be held at 8:30 in Allegany High School auditorium, features Miss Robb and three Peabody Conservatory students in top singing roles. Miss Robb, a contralto, is a native of Cumberland. She will join Joseph F. McCall, Carolyn Bailey and Raymond Brown in singing the feature solos in the Choral Society's rendition of the oratorio.

McCall, the tenor, is a graduate of Loyola College of Baltimore and is a candidate for a music degree at Peabody Conservatory. He is soloist at the Basilica of the Assumption in Baltimore, SS. Philip and James Church in Baltimore and choir director at St. Agnes and St. Luke's churches.

Miss Bailey is present holder of the Eton scholarship at Peabody and is soloist at First Methodist Church, Baltimore. A soprano, she sang a lead role in "The Creation" presented by the Peabody Choir and has appeared on television and radio.

Brown is the baritone and has a degree from Peabody and Johns Hopkins University. A member of the Hilltop Musical Company he has appeared in numerous roles and has made frequent appearances as a guest soloist in musical recitals and concerts on radio and television.

K. Of C. Honors Eight Who Died During 1952

Eight members of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, who died during 1952 were honored yesterday afternoon during a memorial service at the council home on Mechanic Street, according to J. Arthur McDade, grand knight.

Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and council chaplain delivered the eulogy. W. A. Gunter, council lecturer, was in charge of the program.

Francis Kastner, acting recorder, read the names of the following deceased members who died during the past year:

Joseph A. Coleman, past grand knight, Edward F. Wegman, J. Leo Dougherty, Harry C. Ways Sr., Henry J. Koelker, Michael F. O'Neill Sr., Bernard A. Noone and James B. Norton.

Yesterday's service, the first such program held in the past several years, was well attended by members of the council.

Amvets Elect Today

An election of officers will be held today by members of J. Louis Wolford Post 1, Amvets. The polls will be open from 12 noon until 8 p. m. at the post home.

James C. Angellatta has withdrawn as a candidate for post commander, leaving Robert F. Baker unopposed.

$2 Millions Cut From State's Budget Figure

Taxing For Surplus To Be Discontinued

Plans for a $2,000,000 cut in the state's 1953-54 budget were announced yesterday by the House Ways and Means Committee, which has fathered two other tax cuts within the last month.

The 30-man committee, headed by Delegate John Wood Logan (D-Caroline), announced it has pared more than two millions from the administration's $195 million budget.

The committee also headed the drive for the 15 per cent reduction in income taxes and a decrease of nearly three cents in the property tax assessment.

Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Westernport, a member of the powerful House committee, said the action means that the state's taxing will be placed on a current basis, and that "taxing for surpluses" will be discontinued in Maryland.

When the taxpayer has overpaid, Whitworth said, he deserves a cut in taxes.

Examines Budget

This is the first time in 10 years the House committee has undertaken full examination of the budget.

For the last several years it has appointed a subcommittee to work with the Senate Finance Committee in examining the governor's money proposals.

The Finance Committee reportedly is far behind in getting down to serious business in deciding on the budget. Two meetings for that purpose last week didn't materialize. However, the Finance Committee has held many hearings on the departmental requests, and some cuts were indicated by the senators.

Doesn't Affect Salaries

Logan said the cuts by his committee did not affect the proposed salary hikes for state employees. He said some ill-founded reports to that effect "simply are not true."

The House committee cuts represent the first time in several years that the General Assembly has specified where the cuts should be made. Usually the Legislature asks the governor, in the form of a resolution, to reduce the budget a certain amount.

Logan said the Ways and Means Committee was unanimous in approving the cuts. He said he would not divulge where the budgetary reductions were until they were presented to the House late next week.

He said he does not approve of placing politics in the schools and that the plan would greatly increase the possibilities of politics in the school system.

The Westernport legislator will work for Senate Bill 411, which changes the distribution of the incentive fund for the construction of public school buildings.

The plan, he said, would give Allegany County additional funds for its school construction program.

Glorying In The Cross

By REV. H. E. HECKERT

"The heart of the Gospel is redemption," states Dr. C. H. Spurgeon, "and the essence of redemption is the substitutionary sacrifice of Christ. I have found by long experience that nothing touches the heart like the Cross of Christ." As it took the eyes of a Michael Angelo to see an angel in a rough slab of marble, so it takes the eyes of man to see the glory of the Cross of Christ.

Christ yields to the cruel assaults of His enemies in order to fulfill His Father's will. When He was arrested He declared that legions of angels were at His disposal, by whose aid He could deliver Himself from His enemies if He desired.

The death of Christ was the greatest achievement that ever was accomplished in this world. Its influence and results are as far-reaching as the uttermost parts of heaven, earth, and hell. As the climax of man's sins and failure is seen at the Cross in the crucifying of the Lord of Glory, so Christ's greatest triumph has come by His cross. The glory of His Cross can never be left behind as a "beggarly element" or a "first principle." It is everlastingly present in its eternal efficacy.

There was never a time in His life when He could not have escaped the clutches of His foes, and frequently He did elude His tormentors, realizing that His time had not come; but when the crisis was duly arrived He surrendered Himself to His fate. His life was trampled out by guilty sinners, but He submitted Himself to this iniquity voluntarily. He was the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. From all eternity He opposed His righteousness to the sinfulness which anywhere might rise in His universe. God, in the person of Christ, offered the prospect of His holiness to the unholiness of men.

Of all the lives that have suddenly closed on the face of the earth, no one seemed more like failure and defeat than did the life of our Lord Jesus Christ. To be "hanged on a tree" was, in the estimation of men, to have the memory of your name blotted out of earth and Heaven. But His Cross, the symbol of the curse, becomes the symbol of eternal glory. Here His enemies, seen and unseen, put Him to an open shame; here, also, He made a show of them openly. The first trophy of the Cross was seen in that poor, penitent fellow-sufferer on the tree. The next man whose enemy was slain by the Cross was the centurion, who is compelled to confess that "Truly this was the Son of God."

The death of Christ was the greatest achievement that ever was accomplished in this world. Its influence and results are as far-reaching as the uttermost parts of heaven, earth, and hell. As the climax of man's sins and failure is seen at the Cross in the crucifying of the Lord of Glory, so Christ's greatest triumph has come by His cross. Salem Chapter No. 18, Royal Arch Masons, will confer the Royal Arch degree on a class of three persons tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic Temple.

Visitors from Frostburg and Lonaconing are expected to attend the degree work at the conclusion of which a luncheon will be served in the banquet hall on the first floor of the temple.

Sen. Beall To Ask Hearings On Parkway Easement Bill

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, in Cumberland Saturday, said he will immediately ask for hearings on U. S. Senate Bill 711.

This measure sponsored by the Frostburg senator will provide for perpetual easements to industry and others desiring them across the proposed C&O Canal Parkway between Hancock and Cumberland.

In the Maryland General Assembly, Senate Bill 211, sponsored by Allegany County Senator Robert B. Kimble, during the past week passed the Senate by an overwhelming 24-4 vote.

This bill allows the State Roads Commission to buy and cede to the National Park Service the rights-of-way needed for the parkway. An amendment has this bill contingent on the passage of Senator Beall's measure in the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives.

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde of the Sixth District has introduced into the House of Representatives a companion bill to the U. S. Senator's so that its passage may be expedited.

Senator Beall said his easement bill is in committee and he will ask for immediate hearings on it.

The U. S. Senator called upon the people of Western Maryland to urge the county's six delegates in the Maryland legislature to push the passage of the state bill.

Here on one of his regular visits to his office in the Cumberland Post Office Building Saturday, Senator Beall met a steady stream of callers at his office from 9 a. m. to early afternoon.

He said he will again visit his office on April 4 to meet his Western Maryland constituents and again on April 18 when both he and Rep. Hyde will be here.

County Delegation At Work

Members of the Allegany County delegation to the House of Delegates in the General Assembly are shown here going over the details of some of the many local and state-wide bills they are sponsoring or will vote on soon at Annapolis. The group expects to push for early passage of the important Parkway bill in the House which would enable the state to acquire land between Cumberland and Hancock for the Federal government along the C&O Canal for the building of a parkway. Left to right are seated Lester B. Reed, Charles M. See, Estel C. Kelley, Horace P. Whitworth, and Noel Speir Cook. The sixth member of the delegation, Fred B. Driscoll, was absent when the picture was taken. The General Assembly is slated to end its session April 6.
